WEATHER.

U. S. Department of Agriculture,
Weather Bureau,
Toledo, O., Oct. 5.— 1892.

The storm central over the north Atlantic coast has remained nearly stationary but will move northeastward into the ocean. A storm of slight energy is developing north of Montana this morning, but as yet has caused no change in the weather over that section of country.

The area of high barometric pressure central over the west has moved slowly eastward, and was joined by a high from north of Lake Superior and covers the central portion of the country from Lake Superior to the Gulf of Mexico.

The temperature has fallen from 10 to 22 degrees over the entire country between Minnesota and the Atlantic coast, and as far south as Knoxville, Tenn. This cool wave was caused by the high area of pressure moving southward from the Lake Superior region. The temperature has risen slightly over the west, and remained stationary in all other sections. It will grow warmer over the entire country during the next 36 hours, except on the Atlantic coast, where it will be colder tomorrow morning.

Killing frosts are reported from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan, and light frosts from stations around the lakes. The frost at this station was light and only occurred in sheltered places, and no serious damage will result.

Light rains have fallen during the past 24 hours over the northeastern portion of the country; in all other sections the weather has continued fair. Generally fair weather will prevail over the entire country to-day, and in this locality to-morrow.

Local forecast for Toledo and vicinity: On Wednesday fair, cooler. On Thursday fair, warmer.

It fills the bill—a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Sick or Bilious Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

But not in the way the huge, old-fashioned pill tries to do it. These little Pellets have better methods. They cleanse and regulate the whole system naturally. In other words, they do it thoroughly, but mildly and gently. There's no disturbance to the system, diet or occupation. They're the smallest in size, but the most effective in result—purely vegetable, perfectly harmless. Only one little sugar-coated Pellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic.

They're the cheapest pills you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

This is true only of Dr. Pierce's standard medicines.

Paste this in Your Hat.

Uniformity of Real Estate Transfers Wanted.

Legislation Will Undoubtedly be Asked For.

Judge Seymour Dexter, of Elmira, Makes a Splendid Address on Building and Loan Associations.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The delegates to the national real estate convention had such a good time last night under the chaperonage of their Buffalo hosts that they were slow in getting down to work this morning.

Among the important questions to be considered to-day is that of asking every state legislature in the country to pass uniform laws regarding the execution and acknowledgment of transfers of realty.

Under the present state of affairs there are nearly as many different laws as there are states, and as a consequence the real estate ment of the country in dealing with forms of deeds, mortgages and other instruments used in tranfers are greatly inconvenienced.

Judge Seymour Dexter, of Elmira, addressed the convention on building and loan associations and their influences on real estate interests. He said:

"Air, sunshine and real estate are necessities of man's limitation. In the mystic kingdom beyond the natural, it may be possible for the spirit to survive without either, but while man "dwells in mortal clay' it is certain he must have all three to live.

"It is not strange, therefore, that men sometimes reason that real estate should be as free as air and sunshine. It is the gift of God to all men and he who monopolizes more of it than is necessary for his own use is a monopolist of the highest order when its value is enhanced by the closing in of population about his possessions that he "reaps a harvest that he has not sown,' and gathers money into his coffers which belongs, in justice, to the social body which has brought to pass the denser population.

"It is possible that in the future centuries when the evolution of the social life has brought to pass conditions not yet reached, the dream of the theorists may be wrought out in a practical plan and secure for the units of the social body beneficial results.

"It is certain, however, that at present the individual ownership of real estate is the only practical plan that can be adopted but it is equally certain that such ownership, for the good of our people and the safety of our institutions, should be distributed among as large a number as possible.

"Many influences have conspired in the history of our country, up to the present generation to make it pre-eminently a nation of home owners—a nation of free men in the true sense of the word.

"While that condition shall continue, no evil influences can arise of sufficient power to endanger the safety of our political institutions.

"If, however, the ratio of home owners to the total number of population shall decrease, dangers that threaten the substance as well as the glory of our political fabric will increase."

Jdge Dexter then reviewed the history of building and loan associations and said:

"No movement of its kind has ever attained such a marvelous growth and development as has marked its progress during the last six years. Their development is no longer sporadic in character, but an organized movement in nearly every state and territory. Leagues in 16 states have been formed and in April last a United States league was formed which will hold its first annual meeting in Chicago during the Columbian exposition and at the same time a world's congress will be held.

"A conservative estimate for the United States shows over 6,500 associations with assets approximating $550,000,000 and 1,500,000 shareholders, and we predict that on the first day of January, 1894, the accumulated assets of these associations in the whole country will exceed the capital invested in all the national banks of the invested in all the national banks of the United States."

In contradiction to the genuine building and loan association, Judge Dexter said another class had come into existence known as the national building and loan association, which he described as being conducted for the enrichment of their organizers.

"Whenever," he said, "so fine a field of operation presents itself to the scheming, crafty and dishonest, as the national building and loan association scheme, we may rest assured that they will enter it and pluck their victims until restrained by proper legal restrictions in the organization and conduct of this class of associations.

"As an institution for savings, no scheme has yet been devised and put into operation which combines security against a loss of the savings paid into its treasury, cheapness in management and good rates of interest as the genuine building and loan association.

"These associations, as a means whereby a market may be created for suburban real estate, have no rival and their formation should be encouraged."

The hail storm which developed into light snow, melting as fast as it fell, and making the streets and the atmosphere disagreeable, did not appear to affect the boomers from the cities seeking the honor of the next convention. Detroit seems to be one of the leaders and its advocates point to the manner in which the Grand Army was entertained as an inducement to the real estate men to come there next year. Chicago is doing quiet but effective work and is urging the world's fair as an attraction. St. Louis and Louisville are also working industriously. Denver is booming its claims vigorously and the other claimants are hard at work in the same direction. As yet no prediction can be made as to the result.

ELOPERS HEARD FROM.

Canton, O., Oct. 5.—Link Merriman, the slater, who deserted his wife and four children last week with Clara Smith, who left behind a babe and a husband, have been heard from at Mund's hotel, Cincinnati. The woman has written her mother and is very solicitous about her child. The father simply enclosed $10 to buy his children shoes. Neither say a word about their deserted partners.

PLENTY OF WORK FOR MINERS.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 5.—The Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company's collieries at Honeybrook, Audenreid, Trescow, Beaver Meadow and many of them in and about this city are working full time, giving employment to thousands of miners, laborers, etc. The outlook is encouraging.

FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Annual Session of the American Board of Commissioners at Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—The eighty-third annual session of the American board of commissioners for Foreign Missions was opened with an interesting program at the First Congregational church.

The meeting will continue throughout the week and promises to be one of the most important in the history of the body. One of the most important matters that will come up for discussion during the present session will be the question of church representation.

At present the American board of commissioners for Foreign Missions is composed of 250 members, one-third of whom are obliged to be laymen, another third clergymen, and the remainder are only required to be Congregationalists to be eligible for membership.

The board is controlled by appointed committees, the acts of which are in turn acted upon by the board itself. The growth of the society has been so rapid, however, and its work so marked, that the thousands of Congregationalists throughout the country have been anxious to place their churches and pastors in closer relationship with the board, and a plan has been suggested whereby a committee, headed by the pastor from each Congregational church, should attend the meetings and be recognized as auxiliary committees of the board.

While this plan has many points which are looked upon with favor by the board, it would, nevertheless, necessitate the changing of the constitution of the board, which a large number of the members are averse to doing.

PROF. VOSS ARRIVES.

New York, Oct. 5.—Prof. H. Voss, commissioner of art for Holland at the Chicago exposition, arrived this morning by the steamer Manitoba for London.

TO FIGHT THE TRUST.

Samuel Woolner is Out for Blood.

He Will Make the Whisky Combine Crowl Into a Hole—If He Can.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—The "whisky trust" it not, if Samuel Woolner, of Peoria, can prevent it, going to have a monopoly of the spirit market much longer. Mr. Woolner aspires to be a rival to the trust, and his aspirations have taken shape in form in the preparation of plans and specifications for the erection of a mammoth distillery at Peoria.

"We will have the biggest distillery in the United States in operation in 120 days from now, if the weather does not delay the work," said Mr. Woolner. "Our house will have a daily capacity of 5,000 bushels of grain. We will also have facilities for feeding 5,000 head of cattle at the distillery. I have secured a new process for distilling spirits, which will enable us to manufacture much cheaper than the trust or any distillery independent of the trust.

"We can make whisky from 1 to 2 cents a gallon cheaper by the new process we have just devised than the trust can with the Takamine process. Our new company was incorporated under the laws of this state September 24. Otto Back, our superintendent, has already drawn up plans for warehouse, barns and the distillery proper to cover 10 acres."

INDIGNANT CITIZENS.

Displeased With the Action of the City Council on the Natural Gas Question.

Lima, O., October 5.—Another swindler arrived at Columbus Grove this morning and swindled the hotel proprietor out of $50 by a forged check and a bogus draft. The forger was identified here at one of the hotels about dinner time by a traveling man, but he left before the police could be notified, and is at liberty.

Last June the city council passed an ordinance allowing the natural gas company to make their own price to consumers, and all consumers were notified in September that after October 1 the price would be raised, but the company would give no guarantee that they would furnish the gas. A strong protest was made to the council by citizens, and they were asked to repeal the ordinance. The matter was laid over, and there is much indignation.

REMOVED FROM OFFICE.

Columbus, Oct. 5.—State Labor Commissioner W. T. Lewis to-day relieved from duty J. J. Galloway, the Dayton superintendent of free employment. Galloway agreed to hand in his resignation to take effect October 1. Instead of this after Henry Kessinger had been appointed his successor he made the date November 1. Mr. Lewis refused to accept this, and brought the charge of failure to return the statistical information required by the bureau.

LOTTA'S DECLINE.

She May Never Appear on the Stage Again.

The Best She Can Expect is to be Herself in a Social, Not a Professional Way.

New York, Oct. 5.—The condition of Lotta, the actress, has become serious and her manager has notified the members of her company that they are at liberty to accept other engagements for the present season.

All dates fixed for performances are now cancelled. The little woman's trouble is traced to a fall she suffered in Jersey City three years ago and the injuries she received in a runaway accident in Boston in 1889.

The most encouraging news her physician can give is that with careful attention and absolute rest she may, a year hence, be herself again in a social but not in a professional way.

The doctor thinks that, owing to her spinal ailment, she will never be able to dance again. The news has already been sufficient to all but break Lotta's heart.

W. C. T. U.

The Opening Session of the State Convention at Mansfield.

Mansfield, Oct. 5.—The first session of the Ohio Non-Partisan Woman's Christian Temperance union was held yesterday. The executive committee met at 2 o'clock. At 7:30 o'clock the first public session was held in the Methodist church with a large attendance.

The exercises were opened with Scripture reading, and prayer by Mrs. E. J. Phinney. Mrs. H. Harroun, of this city, delivered the address of welcome, to which response was made by Mrs. W. J. Sheppard, of Cleveland. The president, Mrs. Stephen Laird, of Cleveland, who will be moderator of the session, then delivered an address. The real work of the convention will begin to-day with the enrollment of delegates, the appointment of committees, and the reports of officers.

THE RIDERS.

Vienna, Oct. 5.—Six more of the long distance riders arrived here this morning. Their records are all slower than those of the first to arrive yesterday. Duke Ernst Guenther was one of this morning's arrivals. His thoroughbred, Mayflower, became hopelessly lame some distance from the finishing point and the duke completed the journey by rail.

PURITAN DEFEATED.

Big Steamship Race on the Sound.

The Richard Peck Bears Off the Honors.

Twenty-Three Miles an Hour up the Inlet During the Dark Watches of the Night.

New York, Oct. 5.—A race up Long Island Sound early this morning between the side-wheeler Puritan of the Fall River line and the twin screw board Richard Peck of New Haven, resulted in a victory for the latter.

The Peck left New Haven at midnight. She had quite a crowd of passengers on board who manifested a great deal of interest in the contest. The Peck ran slow from New Haven to Stratford shoals, where she was to meet the Puritan, which left Fall River at 8:30 p. m.

At 2:30 this morning the Peck sighted the lights of the Puritan and on the latter's coming abreast of her all steam was crowded on both steamboats and the race began.

The Peck took the course along the Long Island shore and the Puritan steamed about a quarter of a mile from her further out in the sound.

There was a light breeze from the north and the water was smooth. The passengers on both boats crowded the decks and the interest was intense.

The speed of both boats was about 23 miles an hour, their usual rate being 20. After a few miles neck and neck the Peck began to forge ahead, not rapidly, but steadily, until the white hull of the Puritan was a mile astern.

The race was to end at Sand's Point, and when the Peck passed that point she was a mile and a half ahead of the Puritan. The Peck arrived at her dock here at 6:45 a. m., and the Puritan 10 minutes later.

The total distance covered by the two boats in the race was 56 miles.

JUDGE T. M. COOLEY

Will Cast His Vote for Grover Cleveland.

Will the Republican Party be Wiped Out of Existence This Fall?

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 5.—Judge Thomas M. Cooley asserts positively that he will not write a letter proclaiming himself for the democratic national ticket, his health being in too precarious a condition to stand the excitement and agitation which such a letter would cause him.

He does not deny that he will vote for Cleveland, but simply says he is out of politics.

The impression from an interview is that he will vote for Cleveland and Stevenson, and this is the general opinion of his friends with whom he has talked.

LORD TENNYSON.

He Must Die in a Very Few Hours.

The Latest Bulletin From Haslemere States That He Is Sinking.

London, Oct. 5.—A bulletin issued early this morning states that there has been no marked change in the condition of Lord Tennyson since last evening. He was able to sleep some during the night, but is weak and his condition remains critical.

The foregoing bulletin is displayed upon the rustic gate which opens into the garden surrounding Tennyson's house. The gate is fastened by a rope in order to exclude many persons who would otherwise intrude upon the family with inquiries as to the poet's condition. Sir Andrew Clarke, the noted physician, arrived at Aldworth this morning for another consultation on the patient's case. He is accompanied by his wife.

Telegrams and letters of inquiry as to the poet's condition are received in large numbers. Lord Tennyson's illness dates from September 27, when he became chilled while driving. A severe cold resulted which developed into influenza.

The last bulletin at Haslemere states that Lord Tennyson is sinking rapidly and will not last through the day.

Later.—Sir Andrew Clarke and Dr. Dabbs, after consultation, report that Lord Tennyson is growing rapidly weaker.

MORMON POLITICS.

Intense Interest in the Provo Convention.

Provo, Utah, Oct. 5.—Intense interest is attached to the democratic convention to be held here this afternoon for the purpose of nominating a delegate to congress. It is thought the present incumbent, John T. Cain, Mormon, will withdraw if nominated, which will leave the field open to two Gentiles, Judge Henderson and J. L. Rawlins.

The Mormons generally favor nominating one of these out of deference to a large wing of the Gentiles which left the liberal party and united with the democrats.

The situation is unique, as the republicans, Mormons and Gentiles, are a unit in supporting Cannon, the son of a Mormon apostle.

NO THIRD TICKET.

New York Democrats Have Taken Final Action.

New York, Oct. 5.—An evening paper publishes an interview with ex-Mayor William R. Grace, in which that gentleman says: "While I believe that the nomination of a third ticket in the city of New York would bring out a large democratic vote and consequently be favorable to the national ticket, yet, seeing the opposition which is being manifested by many good democrats who differ from me in opinion, I have come to the conclusion that it would be better to put no third ticket in the field."

HAS THE RECORD.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—Count Starhemberg, one of the long distance riders from Vienna, arrived here at 7 o'clock this morning. He started Sunday and was only 71 hours and 35 minutes on the road. This is the best record yet made by any of the riders.

TENDERED TO GLADSTONE.

Liverpool, Oct. 5.—At a special meeting of the municipal council to-day, Mr. Holt, a leading liberal, moved that the freedom of the city be conferred upon Mr. Gladstone. Mr. Forwood, conservative member from Liverpool, seconded the motion and it was carried unanimously.

WHERE IS HUGH ROSS?

Prominent Striker Whose Whereabouts Is Unknown.

Homestead, Pa., Oct. 5—Where is Hugh Ross, and will he appear to prosecute the suit against members of the Carnegie Steel company?

These are questions which are being very energetically asked in Homestead. If Ross does not appear it is more than likely that other leaders will take the places vacated by the absence of himself and Burgess McLuckie.

Several have already proffered their services to Attorneys Cox and Brennan, and it is thought that the suits will be brought before the grand jury at least, the great majority of the strikers being strongly opposed to dropping the charges. As viewed from Homestead, Ross is in a strange position.

If he does not appear to make good his case before the grand jury it will be said that he has run away. If he does show up, he will be promptly arrested on the second charge of murder, and likely sent to jail without bail.

In that case he could not appear before the grand jury either. Ross' friends do not admit that he has jumped his bail, but say he is with friends in West Virginia and will appear when his case is called in court.

GEORGIA ELECTION.

Democrats Will Have the Usual Majority.

Gov. Northen Will Win at the Polls.

The Alliance Not So Strong As It Was Two Years Ago in That State.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 5.—The state election is in progress to-day. A governor and a legislature are to be chosen. The present state executive, Gov. Northen, again heads the ticket, while the people's party has a candidate, Col. Peek, who, with the assistance of half a dozen able alliance orators, has been assiduously stumping the state. Notwithstanding its energetic campaign, however, and Gen. Weaver's prediction that the people's ticket would be elected, the alliance is not as strong as it was two years ago, while Col. Livingston, the head of the order, has been industriously working for Northen.

The average democratic majority in the state is about 40,000. In some portions of the state registration has been unusually large, indicating an intention on the part of the democrats of snowing Peek under, with a view of discouraging the alliance men from continuing their organization.

By 40,000.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 5.—The democrats say there is every reason that Gov. Northen will be re-elected by a majority of from 40,000 upwards. In some sections of the state the people's party is strong, in others it has no organization. The campaign on the part of the third party managers has been very badly handled. For a while those to whom the management was intrusted were over-confident, and they let their opportunities of doing anything for their party slip by. They have lost ground steadily since their nominating convention, it is claimed, and none of them hope to do anything.

THEY LYNCHED HIM.

A Bad Negro Comes to Grief in the South.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 5.—Another brutal negro has paid the penalty of his crime. Saturday night a negro named Alexander Bell broke into the residence of Mrs. J. S. Jones, a widow with two daughters who lives near Troy, in Obion county.

The women were awakened by the negro entereing their bedroom. He assaulted one of the daughters, but their screams aroused the neighbors and Bell fled. He was arrested Sunday but escaped, being shot in the attempt.

He was arrested again Monday. Deputy Sheriff Kinnaird started for jail with him and was met by about 100 men who took Bell and hanged him to a tree, afterward riddling his body with bullets. He confessed his crime. Miss Jones was not injured.

THIRD PARTY'S FALL.

Six Thousand Votes Cast in Florida.

Mitchell Will Have a Majority of 20,000 Over the People's Party Candidate.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 5.—George W. Wilson, chairman of the democratic committee, reports that his advices give Mitchell a majority of 20,000 over Barker (people's).

In 1888 Fleming's majority was 40,000, and in 1890 the democratic majority was 26,000.

The election will prove a great disappointment to third party leaders in this section, as they had anticipated a large vote from republicans, white and colored.

In fact, Denis Eagan, chairman of the republican state executive committee, issued a circular advising all republicans to vote the third party ticket. But the leaders of the third party, who were fiercely radical democrats in their day, proved distasteful to the mass of republicans in the state; hence the vote did not materialize, and the people's party, judging from bulletins now pouring in, will not poll over 6,000 votes—a result that will tend to extinguish third party ideas in this state.

In the congressional and presidential fire next month a better showing may be made, but it is doubtful, as their organization is deficient and with but little money in their treasury there can not be very much of a fight.

IT WILL CLOSE.

The Roosevelt Organ Organ Factory Was a Failure.

New York, Oct. 5.—The great Roosevelt organ manufactory in this city, which employs several hundred men, is to be permanently closed. The reason given for this course by the managers of the concern is that the capital required for the manufacture of such expensive instruments as the Roosevelt organs could be more profitably invested. The number of organs built by the Roosevelt reached 537, and among them were the grand instruments built for the Garden City cathedral and the Chicago auditorium.

THE NEW SOO CANAL.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 5.—The dominion government yesterday came to an agreement with Hugh Ryan, contractor for the construction of a Canadian Soo canal, by which he binds himself to have the canal completed by the opening of navigation in 1894, two years ahead of the contract time. It is understood that the hurrying of the work through will cost about $250,000 over the contract price.

By virtue of his office the lord chief justice is the principal coroner of England.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Two Men Killed in Cincinnati.

A Freight Train Runs Into a Street Car.

Carelessness of a Watchman Said to Have Been the Cause of the Disaster.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 5.—"Hurry, for God's sake hurry!" shouted a hundred excited spectators, a few minutes after 6 o'clock last evening, as car No. 31, on what is popularly called the checkerboard street car line, drove past the safety gates at Brighton Station, on the Baltimore & Ohio southwestern line.

The car was packed with home-returning men and women. They were mostly laboring folk, and among them were a number of men, boys and girls. As the warning cry reached the ears of those on the car there was a wild rush for the already crowded platforms, from which men and women were leaping in all directions.

The cause of the panic was a rapidly approaching train of three loaded stock cars, pushed by an engine which has the reputation of having killed more people than any engine on the entire system to which it belongs.

A brakeman was frantically tightening the brakes, while the driver of the street car sought by cries and stinging lashes to urge the terrified horses ahead. It was all without avail, and the train crushed into the car, carrying away the rear platform and tearing off the roof. The car itself was thrust to one side and partially upset.

It seemed as if everyone must be killed, and scores turned their faces until death should have glutted his appetite. The little train had not come to a standstill before rescuers swarmed about the debris, and hundreds of sight-seers poured out in living streams from the adjacent houses.

The patrol and ambulance service was invoked and ghastly stories of the number of dead and dying were set afloat on the cool October wind. Eager hands unloosed the horses and removed what was left of the car. A dozen persons were released from beneath it. How they escaped death no one can tell. Most of those least injured but fearfully frightened escaped, but there were those who could not go, and they were gently laid on the station platform, some with fatal injuries, some marked for life, others with broken bones and torn flesh.

A hundred feet away the dead face of John Fry stared into the darkening sky, while still further away, and on the opposite side of the rails lay the lower half of his body. Near him, unconscious, was John L. Murray, a prominent citizen and well-known pension attorney. He died before medical aid could be secured. Jacob Denmore, a boy of 15, cruelly mangled about the hips and lower limbs, was hurried to the hospital only to die. Jacob Spitznagle, and an unknown man, were also sent to the hospital, fatally injured. It is known that five or six others are seriously hurt, but they were hurried to their homes or houses of friends near by. The wounded list, as near as can be told, exceeds twenty-five. The fault for the accident appears to be chargeable to Henry Eppes, the watchman. His station commands a clear view of the track, and it is claimed that a red lantern was swung on the car that was nearest him. Neither the engineer or trainmen of the freight car can be blamed, for they did all in their power to avert the calamity.

MRS. HARRISON.

Her Condition Remains About the Same.

While Very Weak, Her Disease Has Not Reached the Critical Stage.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Harrison passed a more comfortable night than on Tuesday and this morning was feeling easier. She remains propped up in bed by pillows and has experienced the usual fluctuations attending her disease, feeling better or worse at times. The improvement or depression depends largely from the state of the weather. She continues very weak but her condition is not considered critical.

Mr. Halford said this morning that the statement that the president would not attend either the Columbian exercises in New York or the exercises in Chicago incident to the formal opening of the world's fair were unauthorized and in a measure misleading.

The president's movements day by day were dependent on the condition of Mrs. Harrison. If when the time arrives he feels that he can leave Mrs. Harrison, he will attend both celebrations; otherwise he will attend neither. It is not a matter that he can decide in advance.

GROANS FORM WORKINGMEN

Greet Carnegie in the Town of Ayr.

The Echoes of Homestead Are Heard Clear Across the Atlantic Ocean.

London, Oct. 5.—In Ayr to-day the corner stone of the memorial library, presented to the town by Andrew Carnegie, was laid with elaborate ceremonies.

Almost the whole town took a holiday and despite the hostility of the working people to the affair an immense crowd gathered around the site of the building.

The procession from the town hall to the foundation if the building was led by the city officials, Mr. Carnegie and Mrs. Carnegie.

Mrs. Carnegie laid the corner stone and the mayor after delivering a speech of effusive thanks, presented Mr. Carnegie with the freedom of the city. As Mr. Carnegie stepped forward to reply he was greeted with round after round of applause, so loud that a few groans and cries about Homestead were hardly audible. Mr. Carnegie spoke at considerable length. Part of his remarks was as follows:

"I feel more strongly bound than ever to devote the remaining years of my life to aims ending in self and more to the service of others, using my surplus wealth and spare time in the manner most likely to produce the greatest good to the masses of the people. From these masses comes the wealth which is trusted to the owner only as administrator."

Mr. Carnegie received from the city a magnificently illustrated volume of "Views of the Land of Burns."

BRUBACKER NOT DEAD.

New Orleans, Oct. 5.—Notwithstanding recent reports of the execution of Brubaker, the South Dakota sharpshooter, in Honduras, information was received from the steamer S. Oteri, which arrived in port Monday night, that Brubaker was not killed but was sentenced to three years' imprisonment at Amapala.

BOWLING GREEN ECHOES

Splendid Work of the Democratic Convention.

Byron F. Ritchie, the Man of the People.

Brief Sketch of the Candidate and the Resolutions Adopted—General Mention.

The ninth congressional democratic convention is over and the delegates have returned to their homes well pleased with the result.

There were several democrats in the various counties who would have made the race, but when Byron F. Ritchie and Dr. J. A. Wilkins, of Fulton, announced themselves as candidates the others withdrew.

The convention was spirited and the introductory remarks of Chairman Canary put the delegates in good humor.

At the morning session a temporary organization was perfected by the selection of of J. W. Canary chairman and F. W. Dyar, of the Bee, secretary. The committees were made up as follows:

Permanent organization—Lucas, F. E. Wright; Wood, T. Hayes; Fulton, Benj. Stoner; Ottawa, George Diebel.

Credentials—Lucas, M. Harrington; Wood, Thomas Mauer; Fulton, James White; Ottawa, Seman Smith.

Resolution—Lucas, M. M. Eppstein; Wood, T. N. Bierly; Fulton, Bert Newell; Ottawa, John H. McGee.

Congressional committee—Lucas, W. J. Coburn; Wood, M. E. O'Connor; Fulton, Benj. Stoner; Ottawa, Charles Roose.

Vice-presidents—Lucas, Nathan Gardner; Wood, James M. Brown; Fulton, Daniel Dowling; Ottawa, J. H. Kramer.

At the afternoon session the temporary organization was made permanent and the resolutions, as presented by T. N. Bierly, were adopted as follows:

We, the democracy of the Ninth congressional convention assembled reaffirm our belief in democratic principles and pledge our unswerving loyalty to the candidates nominated by the democratic party.

We heartily indorse the declaration of principles adopted by the democratic national convention at Chicago, and pledge our support to its national standard bearers, Grover Cleveland and Adlai Stevenson, whom we proudly recognize as the best types of American manhood, and as thorough and uncompromising democrats.

We indorse the tariff plank of the national democratic platform. The necessity of raising revenue through the tariff must of course continue, and the fair and patriotic legislative course of the democratic party in congress, its full recognition of existing business conditions and constant regard for the welfare of the wage earner, is a sufficient answer to the attempt of the republican party to arouse needless fears as to the practical consequence of a return to sound principles of taxation.

We assert that the republican party has not administered the civil service law in accordance either with its letter or with its spirit. We believe that public office is a public trust, and we invite comparison between the record of the republican administration now in power and the record of the democratic administration which preceded it.

By the result of that comparison we are willing that the merits of the two parties shall be judged.

The republican party has conceived, fostered, and still protects trusts and combinations of capital which have unjustly wrung from the sockets of the people millions of dollars and allowed the favored few to accumulate princely fortunes. It has suffered the public domain, which should have been sacredly preserved for bona fide settlers to pass into the hands of alien holders and railroad corporations; it has fostered a system of bounties and subsidies which is at variance with the true principles of our government, and is a constant growing menace to the prosperity thereof.

We believe that the security of the federal government lies in a strict respect and regard for the powers of the states, and we pledge ourselves to labor earnestly for the defeat of the republican party which stands committed to a system of federal legislation that would be utterly subversive of the powers of the states to control the suffrages of the people within their domain.

While it may suit the temporary exigencies of the republican party to keep the force bill in the background, we believe with the leaders of the republican party that the support of this measure constitutes the essence of republicanism, and that republican success will bring with it a renewed attempt to enact measures which menace the political liberties of all our people.

We condemn the means used by the republican nominee for congress in this district to secure his nomination, and warn the honest voters of this district to be on the alert in the further attempt to overcome the will of the people by the same questionable methods. It being the proud boast of his political emissaries that he is able to buy his way into congress, and we warn the people that it is a fight to the finish between them and a purse proud millionaire.

When Fulton county was called Dr. G. P. Campbell placed the name of Dr. J. A. Wilkins before the convention.

Frank E. Wright, for Lucas county, placed Byron F. Ritchie in nomination in a speech that shook the roof and awoke the democratic echoes of Wood county. It was right from the shoulder and was warmly applauded.

Frank A. Baldwin, of Wood, made a splendid second of Mr. Ritchie, and Perry Chase, formerly of Fulton, but now of Wood, seconded Dr. Wilkins. It was evident from the start that Ritchie would be nominated. Fulton cast her 17 votes solid for Wilkins, and when Chairman Hess, of Lucas county, announced 85 votes for Byron F. Ritchie there was pandemonium. Ottawa cast 29 for Ritchie and Wood divided her vote between the candidates, the result being Ritchie 132, Wilkins 40.

The nomination was made unanimous and Mr. Ritchie was brought to the front.

He made one of his characteristic speeches and told the democracy of the Ninth district that he would make a campaign such as the democracy had not seen in years, and that he would meet the candidate of the republican party on the stump in every school district of the four counties.

Mr. Ritchie's address was received with rousing cheers, but the climax was not reached until Dr. Wilkins, the candidate from Fulton, stepped upon the stage, and taking Byron by the hand congratulated him on his nomination and promised to take his coat off and do his best to help him defeat Gov. Ashley. With cheers for the ticket the convention adjourned.

The Candidate.

Byron F. Ritchie is the son of Hon. J. M. Ritchie, ex-congressman from the Toledo district, and was born in Grafton, O., on January 29, 1853. He came to Toledo seven years later and took up studies in the public schools. When 17 years of age Mr. Ritchie graduated from the High school and subsequently entered the office of the Toledo Gaslight company. While thus engaged he prosecuted during the evenings, the study of law, under the tutorship of his father.

In 1874 he was chosen clerk of the board of education, succeeding Hon. I. P. Pugsley, and the same year he was admitted to the bar. Later on he became the junior member in the law firm of Ritchie, Howe & Ritchie, and continued so until 1880 when his father, Hon J. M. Ritchie, was elected to congress.

Since that time Mr. Ritchie has practiced alone and has succeeded in working up a most lucrative business.

He was married April 11, 1878, to Miss Kate I. Taylor of Williamsburg, Ind., and has one daughter. With the exception of being once a candidate for prosecuting attorney of Lucas county Mr. Ritchie has always refused official preferments until receiving the nomination for congress. He is a prominent member of the Toledo lodge of Elks, and one of the leaders in the democratic party of Lucas county.

COLUMBUS DAY

Will Be Celebrated in Proper Form by Toledo.

All Citizens Are Taking a Lively Interest and Solicitors Are Meeting Splendid Success—A Big Time To Be Had.

Another open meeting was held at the mayor's office last evening to make further preparations for the celebration of Columbus day.

At the last meeting the advisory committee selected probably 75 or 100 names of representative business men to solicit funds. Mayor Emmick notified them, and the meeting was held last night for the solicitors to get together, organize, adopt some system, and discuss the best plan of procedure. On the work of this committee depends the success of the celebration. It will cost money, and the more money subscribed, the more enthusiastic the celebration.

Judging from the amount subscribed thus far, before the solicitors have settled down to work in fact, there will be ample funds to permit of a celebration that will be legion until the next event of the kind.

Business men of all classes are taking a lively interest in the matter, and extending every effort possible to aid in the project.

At the meeting last evening Capt. R. S. Holbrook reported $129 contributed by attorneys. Frank I. King sent up $100, given by the members on 'change.

Mayor Emmick stated that Mr. Malone, the armory contractor, had kindly offered the use of that building on that day if desired.

Capt. Roulet said that he did not believe the armory would begin to accommodate the attendance, especially if there were several thousand school children present. He suggested that the use of the court house park be secured, and exercises conducted there.

Superintendent Compton thought, if the weather would permit, it would be a good idea to hold the exercises on the High school grounds. It was agreed to decide this matter later on.

Mr. Compton wanted to know how the schools were expected to participate. He did not think it advisable to have all of the children take part in the parade, for the reason that in the lower grades the children were small and the teachers would have to accompany them, and he did not think the teachers would care to march in the streets.

Capt. Roulet suggested that members of the militia take charge of the schools, drill the scholars and all of them turn out. The school children of the city number between 10,000 and 12,000, and marching in line would be a sight not soon to be forgotten; that in fact it would be the feature of the parade. All present were unanimous in the opinion that the celebration would be a flat failure without them, and that they should take part was settled. The military officers present agreed to see that they were taken care of. Mayor Emmick said the invitation included the parochial schools also, and that special invitation would be extended to the pastor of each parish.

The advisory committee will meet today and select the various committees, and on Friday evening the finance committee will report the success attained.

PECULIAR SHOOTING.

Paulding, O., Oct. 5.—(Special)—It has just leaked out that Fred Peffner, an old man of this place, was shot and seriously injured. The shooting occurred in the neighborhood known as Smoky Row, and the affair has been kept very quiet.

Peffner was shot in the leg, and was taken to his home by some person whose name he refuses to divulge. Neither will he tell anything as to the probable cause of the attack. He refuses to say anything about the matter, and his neglect to secure the proper medical attention may cost him his life.

COURT-MARTIAL.

Passed Assistant Paymaster Sullivan's Case.

New York, Oct. 5.—A special from Washington to the Herald says the judge advocate of the court-martial which recently tried Passed Assistant Paymaster H. R. Sullivan has turned its findings over to the navy department.

It will be some days before the sentence will be officially announced, but it is said that Mr. Sullivan was acquitted of the more serious charge of embezzlement, found guilty of some of the less serious charges, involving technical violations of the regulations, and sentenced to about two years' suspension with loss of numbers.

MONKS IN A BARN.

Serious Conflagration in Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 5.—The magnificent monastery of the Trappist order at Tracadie, Antigonish county, was burned yesterday. The fire originated in the bakery and the Monks and their guests made great efforts to keep the fire from reaching the main building, but without avail.

The beautiful chapel was next to go and soon all of the splendid buildings were a pile of smouldering ruins. Everything was destroyed but the mills and barns.

The loss is $60,000 with no insurance. There were only two trappist monasteries on the continent, one in Nova Scotia and the other in Kentucky. The Monks are now quartered in the barns and outbuildings.

DROWNED WHILE BATHING.

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 5.—Louis D. Tutt, one of the founders of the Elizabeth Athletic club and well known here, was drowned on Monday in Slim Pond, in the Adirondacks, together with his guide, Eugene French, while they were on a hunting expedition. The men lost their lives by the upsetting of their boat.

STRUCK A HORSE CAR.

New York, Oct. 5.—A horse car driven by John Moran attempted to cross the track at Orange, N. J., last night and was struck by the fast express on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western. Moran was killed and two passengers, Mrs. Charles Hunt and Mrs. Benedict, were seriously, if not fatally, injured.

ONE BY ONE.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 5.—Arthur Denny, the last member of the noted and desperate Clark gang, who was at liberty, is in jail here. He was arrested last evening at a house of a friend here. This winds up the most desperate gang of outlaws that ever terrified this section.

APPOINTED CONSUL.

New York, Oct. 5.—A letter was received last night by Mayor Grant from F. S. Garcia announcing that he had been appointed Guatemalan consul general in this city in place of Jacob Baise, the late consul general.

At the present time the whole number of double stars known and recorded by astronomers is something over 10,000, far exceeding the total number of stars visible to the naked eye in the entire firmament (about 6,000), and others are being frequently discovered by the great telescopes now in existence.

Why is it that some houses always need repainting?

The owner has them painted in the Spring; by Fall they have a dingy, rusty, faded look.

A neighbor's always looks fresh, clean, and newly painted, and yet is not re-painted oftener than every four or five years.

INDIANA OIL FIELD.

Much Excitement in the New Territory.

Several Monster Gushers Have Turned Attention In That Direction.

St. Marys, O., Oct. 5.—(Special)—The completion of several monster gushers in the Indiana oil field the past few days, has thrown everybody into a state of feverish excitement in Hoosierdom, and oil men from this field are flocking thither. Last Sunday the first gusher of consequence was brought in on the St. McCollister farm, in Jackson township, Joy county.

It was drilled by the Ohio Oil company, and its production the first 24 hours was over 600 barrels. This farm is about the most productive in the entire field at present, four wells having already been completed, while three more are drilling.

The greatest surprise, however, was sprung last night, when the Ohio Oil company drilled in their well on the Hyatt farm, near Camden.

The drill had scarcely touched the sand, when the oil began flowing, and it continued to increase in volume, until it was found necessary to suspend operations.

It is estimated that this gusher is good for 1,500 barrels a day, and its completion has had the effect of causing such excitement, the like of which has never been witnessed in any oil field. The people are fairly wild, and derricks have commenced springing up in all directions, and in close proximity to the gusher. This field, although yet in its infancy, will soon fall into line with other fields, and become rapidly drained, as close drilling, which has been the ruination of this field, is materially figuring as a principal factor, and this will sooner or later bring about the same affairs in this Indiana field. The entire new production of the Indiana field at present is estimated at 2,200 barrels, while the number of wells drilling is 22, with 30 rigs up. These figures will be doubled this month, as there will be great activity.

Williams & Putnam's No. 1, on the Adams farm in the Nottingham pool, is good for 200 barrels.

The Northern Indiana Oil company's No. 3, on the Hilton farm, same pool, is doing 250 barrels.

The Ohio Oil company's No. 3 is holding up at 225 barrels.

The Portland Gas and Mining company's No. 1, on the N. Hidy farm, is a 200-barrel well.

TELEGRAPHERS.

Baltimore & Ohio Operators Are Excited.

Baltimore, Oct. 5.—The telegraphers of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad who belong to the Order of Railway Telegraphers are on the tip-toe of expectancy as to what action will be taken by the railroad authorities upon the submission to them of a new schedule of wages. This schedule was agreed upon at a recent meeting in Pittsburg. The schedule contains a request for promoting by merit and not by seniority.

RAILWAY EMPLOYES STRIKE.

Columbus, Oct. 5.—One hundred employes of the Big Four Railroad company engaged in moving cars in the yard struck yesterday. They were incensed at the appointment of Pat. Keaney, a brother of Train Master Keaney, to the position of assistant yard master, fearing that this was only a preliminary move to the displacement of Yard Master John F. Netty. They also demand the Cincinnati scale of wages.

NEW CORPORATIONS.

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—The following articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the secretary of state: The Benson Electric Belt company, Ottawa, capital stock $30,000; the Metropolitan Clothing company, Cincinnati, capital stock $10,000; the Goethe Benevolent association, Cincinnati; the Cleveland & Buffalo Transit company, Rocknort, increase of capital stock from $150,000 to $375,000.

ROYAL MEETING

Of the Daughters of the King of Kings.

Reports of the Circles in Toledo Who Are Engaged in Mission and Charitable Work for the ... and Unfortunate.

The union meeting of the city branch of the order of King's Daughters was held at the Central Congregational church Tuesday afternoon, with fair attendance, the president, Mrs. D. C. Shaw, in the chair, Miss Mary Janes, secretary.

Mrs. Shaw read the Scripture selection, and one of the King's Sons led in prayer.

A solo, "Ashamed of Jesus," was then beautifully rendered, after which the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and the president read the names of the vice presidents appointed to report from the various churches.

Mrs. Trowbridge reported for Trinity church, that the circle of little girls was doing good work, singing for funerals and helping in many ways the sick and afflicted.

For the Unitarian church Mrs. Jennings reported that they were supporting the free kindergarten in the Adams street mission and doing helpful work in other directions.

For the First Presbyterian church, Miss Minnie B. Smith reported that there were three circles in healthy condition. They are engaged in work for the Helping Hand mission, and in flower and other mission work.

Miss Janes reported that Westminster church had really but one circle, the Sunshine Ten, who have the care of Little Charlie, whose sad case is familiar to most Toledo people. They have succeeded in raising over $100 for his support and are responsible for his board and care, which amounts to $20 per month. The child is entirely and hopelessly paralyzed, being unable to raise his hands, and requires more care than an infant. He was for a time at the county infirmary, and his condition when removed from there was pitiable. He can not live long the doctors think, and it seems a terrible thing to these young women, who are so interested in him, that his painful little life should be ended in the infirmary, but it will be a necessity unless the people of this city can be interested enough in the case to contribute toward his support.

Twenty dollars every month is a large sum for ten young women, most of them working women, to raise out of their own pockets, and that is the way they have been raising it, having solicited money until they are tired and ashamed to do so longer.

It would seem that the embarrassment should belong to people who every day spend in selfish pleasures the few cents or dollars that if contributed to this good cause, would alleviate the pain of this suffering little unfortunate, and lift a burden from these young shoulders that has become almost too heavy to be borne.

Miss Bond reported for St. Paul's M. E. church, four good circles, numbering 60 or 70 persons all engaged in active Christian work.

For the Ashland Avenue Baptist, Mrs. C. Brown reported three circles of King's Daughters and one of King's Sons. This last is called the watchman circle; they are watchful lest they use profanity, or their thoughts be impure.

For the Third Baptist church, Mrs. C. H. Paine reported that the Sunshine circle had, by means of lawn fetes and socials succeeded in raising $100 toward paying off the church debt.

Mrs. Daniels reported that the First Congregational church has nine circles, and that the Bible reading circle has met every Monday for five years. She also gave a report of the work being done at the Boys' home on Illinois street, and of the need here of funds to carry on the work.

Mrs. Tillinghast reported that the Central Congregational church has four circles, the Willing circle, Patient Ten circle and Willing Workers' circle, doing charitable work in various ways.

Mrs. Waldron reported that the Auburndale circle had earned $52.13; had sold 30 comforts, given a boat ride and lawn fete, and placed the money to good advantage. Another circle, the Improvement circle, whose work it is to overcome faults, is growing in numbers and Christian grace.

The case of Mrs. Kinny, living at 512 John street, an old lady, greatly in need of care and a home, was reported, and the circles asked to look after her.

A case of terrible destitution reported, was that of a poor woman, with six children, who lives in a house out Orchard street, near the Clover Leaf railroad.

The youngest child is a babe a month old. There is no furniture in the house, a board being used to sit upon. The mother has been making brushes for 22 cents a dozen, and this is all the family have had for sustenance.

Mrs. Dr. Bacon having resigned the office of state secretary of the order, Mrs. Waldron was nominated to fill the vacancy, and a motion that a strong letter of recommendation be sent to headquarters with her name, was adopted by a rising vote. Mrs. Waldron thanked the ladies for their appreciation and the matter of a banner for the world's fair was next brought up, receiving considerable discussion, but it seemed to be the feeling of those present that the destitute in the city should first be cared for.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Dr. Bacon for the way in which she had fulfilled the arduous duties of state secretary and the meeting adjourned to meet the first Tuesday in January at Westminster church.

COL. JAMES H. RICE.

Death of a Man Prominent in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Col. James H. Rice, ex-auditor of the state of Indiana, died this morning at the Grand hotel in this city. James Rice was one of the most widely known politicians. He was elected auditor of Indiana in 1883. He also served two years as chairman of the democratic state central committee. He has been in poor health for a year and his death was the result of an attack of la grippe. He was born in New Albany, Ind., in 1843, and was a bachelor.

Mont Cenis railroad reopened for traffic in 1868.

Detroit, Oct. 5.—The coming race between the yachts Alice Enright and the City of the Straits is causing a great deal of comment and interest here. At a meeting last evening the race was postponed until Columbia Day, October 21, when it is believed that an immense crowd will be present. The Enright, being formerly a member of Toledo Yacht club fleet, has still many friends in Toledo who would like to see her win. The race is for $1,000 a side.

THERE IS FUN AHEAD

At This Evening's Meeting of the Police Board.

The Question of the Right of Chief Raitz to Override the Commissioners' Orders to Be Considered.

Surface indications point to a lively and interesting session of the police commissioners this evening. The case of Officer Dwyer will come up for a decision, and Officer Hewitt will probably be placed on trial for conduct unbecoming an officer.

There is a still more interesting matter, however, that will undoubtedly come up, and that is the peculiar and apparently illegal action of Chief Raitz in removing Spore from the rank of chief of detectives.

Spore was appointed to this position by resolution of the board on May 4 last, and now has a commission signed by the mayor and clerk of the board.

The question that arises, therefore, is whether or not the authority of Chief Raitz is superior to that of the body which created him. Raitz thinks it is, or seems to, anyway, but the position he has taken is just as untenable as was the position the republican members of the board took when they assumed to abolish the office of captain, which was created by statutory enactment of the state legislature.

Raitz says he appointed Spore chief of detectives and has the right to remove him, but the records show that he was appointed in pursuance of a resolution introduced by Mayor Emmick and adopted by a vote of three to two.

Spore says he has asked for an investigation, but will not beg for one, and Mayor Emmick states that he is perfectly willing to have an investigation started.

Matters are rapidly approaching a climax, and something is bound to drop pretty soon. A prominent police commissioner said to a Bee this morning that he wanted to know where Raitz got his authority for over-riding the board, and that he proposed to find out. "If he has the right to unmake officials at his own sweet will," said the commissioner, "it is about time we went out of business. I, for one, will stand by the action of the board."

Benjamin Swigart, of Alvada, has been taken to the Toledo asylum for the insane. A woman with whom he has been living has confessed that Swigart's mental condition is due to his brooding over some money which he found and did not return to the owner. He was employed by a physician at Bradner, and one day found a roll of bills amounting to $1,140. A year later in a fit of despondency he threw $700 of it into the fire. His crime preyed upon him so that he is now violently crazed.—Upper Sandusky Union.

The property is bounded on the east by Oak street, on the west by Yondota street, north by Nevada and south by Navarre avenue. It is intersected by Jay, Utah and Clark streets. The lots range in size from 101 by 33 to 112 by 43 feet. The addition has been placed under the management of F. A. Kumler.

Church Bazar Opening.

A fancy work bazar, under the auspices of the German Reformed church opened at Memorial hall last night with a large attendance.

The booths are numerous and artistically arranged and the articles for sale are of every kind—ornamental, useful and very beautiful.

Booths where excellent refreshments are served are filled all the time, and it looks to-day as if the fair would be an immense success.

Dinner was served from 12 to 2 p. m., and a large number partook.

The fair will continue this evening and to-morrow.

Polish Democrats.

The Polish citizens of the Seventh and First wards will hold a meeting to-morrow evening (Thursday) at the hall of Mr. St. Grudzinski, on Lagrange street, and an effort will be made to reorganize the Polish democratic club, which existed at the spring election, and has a membership of nearly 200 Polish voters. Several Polish and American speakers will be present, and a large attendance of Poles is expected. The "Kurjer," recognized as the organ of the Poles in the city, issues an extra edition to-day, calling its countrymen to assemble and join the club.

An English Tea.

Spring Street mission at Glassboro was a lively place last evening. The ladies attending the mission had planned an English tea, and over one hundred of the scholars and their parents attended. After devotional exercises Superintendent Homer Hood welcomed the guests and invited their co-operation in the work of the erection of a church building. His remarks were received with generous applause, which demonstrated the earnestness of the residents in the project. The English tea was next served, as was also ice cream and cake, and a handsome sum realized. A ladies' aid society was organized, with Mrs. Martha Clark as president; Mrs. George Simmons, secretary, and Mrs. Freeman, treasurer. A few hours were spent with singing and social conversation, and a delightful time was had.

Will Sue for $2,000.

Harriet B. Leavens, of Baltimore, Md., through her attorneys, Sherman, Hoyt & Duston, brought suit in the circuit court of the United States this morning against Harriet Ewing, Zophar Ewing, and Lee Main, administrator of the estate of Wm. Peppell, deceased, to recover the sum of $2,000 and interest at 6 per cent. on a promissory note given the plaintiff by Wm. Peppell, deceased.

The defendants reside in Hancock county, Ohio.

An Early Morning Blaze.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning flames were discovered in the one-story frame cottage of William Radunz, situated on Indiana avenue, between Lenk and Ewing streets. Before the fire department arrived on the scene the adjoining residence of Fred Ardman was ignited by the heat and sparks.

The blaze in the latter house was soon under control, but the Radunz cottage was entirely destroyed. The origin if the fire is unknown. The loss, which will aggregate over $1,000, is partially covered by insurance.

Officers Installed.

At the social meeting of St. Mark's Sewing society on Tuesday afternoon the officers elected at the last meeting, and whose names were printed in the Bee at that time, were duly installed.

The meeting was well attended, and the exercises interesting.

Plans were discussed for the winter's work, and satisfaction expressed at the executive ability of the officers, the funds raised being put to the best possible use.

The president, Mrs. Daly, appointed the following committees:

On work—Mesdames Baumgardner, Crofts, Waite, Hall, Taylor, Wingleman. For purchasing—Mrs. Bassett and Mrs. Boarman. Visiting—Mrs. Ensworth and Mrs. Leland. Entertainment—Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. King.

Several new members were admitted, with prospects of a large increase in numbers.

This society is one of the largest in the city, and its good works are numberless.

IN NEED OF CLOTHING.

A Philanthropic Movement Deserving of Support.

Almost everybody in Toledo knows that on Illinois street, this city, is situated an institution, where homeless boys are sheltered, fed, and given a home, for a nominal sum, or in cases where they cannot pay, for nothing.

The inmates of this home are boys who would otherwise be in the streets, would have to sleep in sheds or barns or the police station, and the bad influences and associations must affect their future lives for evil.

This movement set on foot by a few charitable people who believe it is better to spend money in bringing up the rising generation to be good citizens, than in building jails and asylums for inebriates and criminals, has grown apace, and its needs are now greater than its supplies.

This is not, or at least should not be a work in which only a few persons are interested; it is of moment to every citizen of this community.

Just at present the home is badly in need of clothing, and just at this time the thrifty housewife is going through her wardrobes, sorting out winter clothing that will be worn by the family, and laying aside many a garment that is only a little worn, or out of style. Such clothing as this would be gratefully received.

If you are not a housekeeper, you might contribute a dollar or two for warm stockings, whole shoes, a hat, cap, coat or mittens; any or all of these things and more, can be used, and must be had, to keep these boys warm and comfortable.

You can't impress the fact of this being a glorious government, and the possibility of his being a future president, on a boy with water-soaked shoes and frost-bitten ears. But clothe him comfortably, give him wholesome food and kind words, and he is grateful and ready to receive any instruction you may give.

This is what the instigators of the Toledo Boys' home are trying to do.

Will you help them?

MARKETS TO-DAY.

The receipts of wheat at Toledo to-day are 52,674 bus less than Wednesday of last week, and 34,865 bus in excess of Wednesday in 1891.

The receipts to-day are 702,000 bus in excess of Wednesday in 1891. The receipts of northwest wheat are 290,000 bus in excess of 1891, and at five other points 412,000 bus in excess of 1891.

Chicago buyers were dealing yesterday on decreased receipts, and here they are largely increased. "Man never is, but always to be blessed."

The Price of Wheat.

Let us look on both sides of the question. There is not a particle of evidence, except the hope of holders, that this northwestern wheat movement will not exceed that of last year. It has so resulted with winter wheat, on a decreased crop, and the northwest farmers' condition of necessity corresponds with all other farmers. All the evidence, so far, is in favor of a large movement. We take it that dealers do not consider excessive receipts a bull influence.

The continental demand for wheat is about nil. The decrease on ocean passage from that, even at very low prices the European states are not buyers. England's prices are below an export basis, except for low grades of wheat, and flour is the largest element in the export.

Under above conditions we are rapidly accumulating our surplus and they supply the main points in the deal.

What the importing world wants of us, and when, we are not advised, except by the estimate of those who cannot fully and accurately reach the aggregate crop of wheat and rye, together with old stocks and old surplus of the world. At what price can we incite this demand. We give it up.

It is a little bullish that English markets are improving and that in some of the western states rain is needed, but our hope is, if England wants to buy we will be willing to sell, rather than let others supply the demand.

The receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth are 780,568 bushels and at five other western points 946,605 bushels, total 1,727,173 bushels. On the corresponding Wednesday in 1891 the receipts at the same points were about 1,025,000 bushels. Chicago estimated at 200,000 bushels of this quantity, 490,581 bushels was northwest wheat, leaving as the movement at the five other points 534,000 bushels, compared with 947,000 bushels to-day.

The export clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports were 179,530 and flour to an aggregate of 250,000 bushels.

In New York October wheat closed at 78 3-4c, a loss of 1-4c; December at 81 5-8c, a loss of 3-8c; May nominal at 88c asked. October corn at 51 1-4c, a loss of 1-8c; May at 54c, a loss of 1-4c. October oats at 36c, a loss of 3-8c.

In Chicago October wheat closed at 73 3-8c, and December at 81 3-8c sellers, a loss of 1-4c; May at 81 7-8c sellers unchanged. October corn at 43 5-8c; December at 44 7-8c, a loss of 1-4c. October oats at 31 1-2c, a gain of 1-8c.

In Toledo we have had an improvement in the trading in wheat for future delivery. There was no new feature in the deal. Opening prices corresponded to the close of yesterday, but the market slowly weakened off and closed 1-8 to 1-4c lower. On the call October wheat sold at 74 1-2, December at 77 1-2 to 77 5-8c, May at 82 5-8c. On the regular board October sold at 74 1-2c and closed at 74 1-4c, December at 77 1-2 and closed at 77 1-4c, May at 82 5-8 to 83c and closed at 82 3-4c.

Cash wheat was in better demand. No. 2 soft sold quite heavy at 74 1-4 to 74 1-2c and closed at 74 1-4c, about where it did yesterday. No. 3 soft opened and closed at 68c. No. 4 soft at 63 to 61 1-2c, as to location. Rejected No. 1 at 65 to 67c. No. 2 at 52 to 52 1-2c. No. 1 white at 74 1-2c.

Corn—No. 2 at 44 3-4c; November at 44c; No. 4 at 42c. Oats—rejected at 26c to 25c. Rye on the call No. 2 sold at 56 1-2c to 56c. On the regular board No. 2 at 56 1-2c. No. 3 at 51 1-2c.

Clover seed for cash and October, the market improved. Distant futures unchanged. Prime for cash at $6.40. October, $6.37 1-2. March at $6.55. No. 2 at $6.25.

Close in New York.

New York, Oct. 5.—Money loaned easy at 4@5 per cent. Exchange steady; posted rates $4.86@4.87 1-2; actual rates $4.85@4.85 1-4 for 60 days and $4.86 1-2 @4.86 3-4 for demand. Governments steady; currency, 6s, $1.07 bid; 4s, coupon, $1.14 bid; extended 2s, registered, $1.00 bid. Stocks were not active this morning. The sales at noon amounted to 185,695 shares. New England was again a feature, dropping 1 1-4 per cent. The general market with the exception of whisky trust and few others was strong during the greater part of the morning. St. Paul, L. & N. were especially strong and under their lead prices at one time showed an advance ranging from 1-8 to 1 1-4 per cent. There was some reaction from these figures toward noon. Hocking Valley was especially weak and fell 2 per cent near midday. At this writing the market is not so active.

New York, Oct. 5.—Flour dull but firm; fine, $1 65@2 10; superfine, $1 70@2 20; city mill extra, $4 25@4 35 for West Indies.

Wheat opened steady at 1-8c advance, but fell 1-2c later. At noon the market was weak; No. 2 red winter, 79 1-4c cash; 78 3-4c October; 80 1-8c November; 81 3-4c December; 88c May.

Corn opened unchanged but soon weakened and declined 1-4@3 8c by midday; No. 2 mixed, 52 1-4c cash; 51 1-4c October; 52c November; 53 1-8c December.

Oats opened weak and declined 1-4c.

Lard steady; October, $8 08; November, $7 90; December, $7 42.

Butter moderately active and easier; state extra, 24@24 1-2c; western extra, 21@24 1-2c. Cheese dull; state factory full cream, fancy white, 10@10 1-8c. Eggs dull; state new choice, 22 1-2@ 23 1-2c; western, 20@21 1-2c. Turpentine dull; quoted at 28 1-2@29c. Rosin quiet; strained to good, $1 22 1-2@ 1 27 1-2. Tallow dull; prime city, 4 1-2c. Petroleum nominal. Freights quiet; grain to Liverpool, steam, 2 1-2d.

If you are Bilious, take Beecham's Pills.

The Chicago University has decided upon "a yell" and is now ready for business.

Judge Cooley's letter defining his campaign leaning towards Cleveland is imminent.

Judge Gresham, Judge Cooley and Wayne McVeigh are three pretty sound republican lawyers who prefer lawyer Cleveland to lawyer Harrison for president.

George William Curtis, and Whittier dead. Ernest Renan dead and Lord Tennyson dying. The mortality roll of '92 will leave some large places vacant.

The organs boast of "the enormous campaign fund" they have collected. The fat fryers have done their work well, but the votes in November will block that little game in future campaigns.

We make a disgraceful spectacle of ourselves in this Chinese business. A complete joss house as a feature of the world's fair is advertised, and it is said a great number of Chinese will be in attendance. And yet we want no truck or dealing with the loathsome heathen. We would make a side show of their miserable religion while they sneer at our missionaries and slaughter them, on occasions. We cannot Christianize them in America and beat them out with clubs at the same time. All together it's a pretty mess.

John Cadwallader, of Madison, Indiana, writes to the Indianapolis News that he "has long admired its courageous steadfastness in battling against the iniquitous tariff," but he parts company with them in this campaign, since the flop of the paper to the high taxers' support and "shall vote for Cleveland." He voted for Harrison in 1888, but "hopes to see him defeated in November and his crowd, including the canting Wanamaker, ousted." He concludes: "Cleveland has a head chock full of common sense; the country will be safe in his hands." Pretty good argument for a former Harrison man.

OUR CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

Byron F. Ritchie is the democratic standard bearer for congress, against J. M. Ashley. There are elements of leadership in Mr. Ritchie which make him a formidable candidate, and, we believe, a winning candidate, and as a speaker he has few equals in this state. Thoroughly posted upon the issues of the hour he is more than a match for Mr. Ashley, as a joint debate would quickly prove. Mr. Ritchie is popular in every county of the district and will make an aggressive campaign. He is a poor man and will have no money to size up with Ashley's pile, but he has brains and friends, and will make a people's fight for the honor and progress of this important commercial and agricultural district. As the campaign progresses the electors of the district will discover that Mr. Ritchie is the man for the occasion, the democrat who can and who will be elected.

FAD BASIS FOR AN ARGUMENT

A Glasgow paper publishes the statistics of immigration from that port for 1892, and these show that 43 started for Australia, 1,056 for Canada, and 20,037 for the United States. The free traders or "tariff reformers" should explain why it is that ten times as many British subjects leave a British port for the foreign land of the United States as sail for the British provinces. In view of the antagonism to protection in this country now is an excellent opportunity to show why these people prefer this country to another where they would be under the protection of their own British flag.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Some good soul should inform this editor that the crowds that sail in the steerage of the cheap Glasgow lines are not British subjects, with the exception of a small sprinkling of Irish. He should stand on the great dock of the Clyde on sailing days and see them go on board—Italians, Jews, Russians, Hungarians, poor forlorn wretches, aided, perhaps, thus far, by steamship companies and those behind them anxious to be rid of them. Some of them have tramped and scurried, under cover of night, across forbidden countries, dirty, half-clad, scared and solemn, the only anxiety shown in their faces is their haste to get stowed away in the hold of the ship lest some mishap in the way of inspector or consul should appear on the scene. Few if any cases of detention are on record. It is the safest European port from which the distressed and poverty stricken can sail for New York. Many of them have been for months working their tedious way from city to city to reach the favored point of departure.

There is no possible political argument of any kind to be gathered from these figures except the fact that the "pauper labor of Europe," against which the well of protection is supposed to be builded, is pouring in upon us at an unprecedented rate, to take the places of strikers in our mills and factories, themselves become the pauper laborers of America. The higher taxer hunting for English free trade argument against tariff reform in America makes some very bad breaks.

TRADE TREATIES WITH COSTA RICA.

It is announced with a great flourish of trumpets that "Costa Rica will probably be added soon to the countries with which reciprocity treaties have been accomplished. The chief exports of Costa Rica are coffee and hides, both of which have been for a long time on the free list. So there is no gain for this country so far as imports are concerned." By terms of the "probable" treaty, coal, structural and railway iron and building timber will be admitted by the Costa Rican congress, free of duty; the tariff on wheat, flour and petroleum will still be maintained. The advantage is all for the giant monopoly and not at all for the agriculturist.

Consider the volume of trade possible with Costa Rica under any circumstances. The little republic contains 20,000 square miles, not quite double the size of Belgium. The population is chiefly of Spanish descent, mixed with foreigners as follows: 209,000 total, including 5,000 civilized and 10,000 to 12,000 uncivilized Indians, 1,200 negroes and 600 Chinese. The Atlantic coastland is low and often submerged; the northern portion is traversed by a volcanic range; the central plateau, over 3,000 feet above sea level is almost the only cultivated region of the country and wild savages roam in the dense, impenetrable forests of the southwest. All told a little less than 1,200 square miles of the country are under cultivation. An export tax on coffee, with tax on spirits and tobacco customs duties, sales of land and national bank revenue, form the support for the government. The tillable soil is exceedingly fertile and the forests contain valuable timber and wood dyes. There are about 200 miles of railroad in the country and 600 miles of telegraph. It took $550,000 worth of military service last year to maintain the peace.

There is nothing new in a trade treaty between this little republic and and our own. In 1885, a treaty was negotiated by which cattle, salt, petroleum, coal, preserved meats, bricks, lime and agricultural machinery were to be admitted free, from the United States. This treaty, a better one for our country than the one under consideration, was not ratified by either government. When negotiations were opened, last year, the same snag was struck: England has a bonded lien on the customs receipts for a loan-debt of nearly $3,000,000, and no manipulation of customs duties can be made without her consent. The total indebtedness is $18,000,000 in round numbers.

These are the facts about little Costa Rica. There is no great opportunity for glorification so far as any application of a new law is concerned. The old treaty was the better one in that it secured the admission of more goods made in this country, free of duty. The ratification of the present one depends upon the disposition of the London bankers who hold mortgages on the country and its revenues.

Attention, Mr. Foster.

What sort of a system of finance is that which shows an increase in the interest bearing debt of the nation, when the non-interest bearing debt decreases $80,000? This is what Secretary Foster's statement issued September 1 presents. Of interest bearing bonds over $25,000,000 are due and they have been extended at 2 per cent. Perhaps the foreigners pay the interest as well as the tariff.—Kansas City Times.

Every Fellow For Himself.

Eastern republicans vote the straight ticket because their interests are protected by the principles of the party. They wish western republicans to vote the ticket for the same reason in spite of the fact that western interests have been utterly ignored by President Harrison for nearly four years. It won't do, gentlemen.—Denver Times (Rep.)

The Ohio Man.

Candidate Weaver was born in Ohio; so was Candidate Bidwell. The same is true of Candidates Harrison and Reid. We believe this comprises all the Ohio men on the national ticket, but four out of the eight will do.—Ex.

Short-Lived Fame.

Permit us to hope that the labor commissioner stage of the campaign is past. The average labor commissioner savors too strongly of the walking delegate.—Washington Post (Rep.)

AN ENTIRE SUCCESS

Was the Anniversary Entertainment of the Home Aid Association.

If a large and good-natured crowd, a fine musical and elocutionary performance, and a merry dance can make a thoroughly enjoyable evening, then nothing was lacking at the celebration of their fourth entertainment by the Home Aid association at Odd Fellow's temple last night.

The guests began to arrive early and by 8 o'clock the large hall was well filled.

The first part of the entertainment was begun by a guitar solo, with piano accompaniment, by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Elton, which was finely executed and greatly enjoyed.

Next came a recitation by Miss Bessie Snell. This little lady made the hit of the evening, her perfect self-possession, in which there is no touch of boldness, her graceful gestures, and rare elocutionary talent, is really wonderful in one of her years, and gained her generous applause.

The third number was a song by Harry Hoagland, who, as usual, was greeted with applause, and encored, responding by singing "The Hat Makes the Man."

The program said that the next number would be a piano selection by Miss Clara Hoagland, but this was changed to a piano duet brilliantly executed by the Misses Hoagland and Otis.

Mr. Huntsman then sang a comic song, "You Can't Fool Dad," and was obliged to respond to an encore.

How the little freckle-faced girl entertained (?) the female agent of the Home Missionary society, was told by Bessie Snell, in a manner that brought down the house. She graciously responded to an encore, telling "How She Spoke Her Piece."

A piano solo by Miss Foella, was one of the best numbers, and at its conclusion, Mrs. Burbank, dressed in the fantastic costume of an Italian flower girl, sang, "Who'll Buy My Pretty Nosegay?" and responded to an encore with a pretty German ballad. Mrs. Burbank possesses a beautiful voice which she has in perfect control.

The hour allotted for the first part of the entertainment had nearly expired by this time, and only one more number, one not on the program, but which was a pleasant surprise to the audience, was given, being a recitation by Miss Meyers, of Air Line Junction, who recited "Kentucky Bill," with good effect. Miss Meyers recites in a manner that shows elocutionary training, but is singularly free from that stagy and tragical air with which so many amateur elocutionists are affected.

This closed the first part, and the orchestra took their places and the ball opened with a march waltz, led by Prof. and Mrs. Fredericks.

There was almost too large a crowd for comfort, it being estimated at about 800.

Thirteen dances were enjoyed however, lasting until 12 o'clock.

To the entertainment, floor and reception committees and to Dr. C. G. Clark, master of ceremonies, much credit is due, for the success of the affair.

The fourth anniversary will be remembered by all present, as the best ever held by this association.

The Fire Underwriters

At the annual meeting of the Toledo Fire Underwriters' association, held yesterday afternoon, the following officers were elected: President, A. C. Osborne; vice-president, O. A. Forbes; treasurer, John D. Irving; secretary and surveyor, Chas. M. Lung; executive committee, W. H. Whitaker, V. Brann, Harry Haynes, John S. Kourtz, W. C. Crabbs, L. W. Trost, Judd Richardson.

THE NASHUA MISSING.

A Steambarge Thought to Have Been Waterlogged.

The Gratwick Fails to Find Her After a Search.

The Steamer Ogemaw Raised by Wreckers—Passages Through the Straits.

Port Huron, Oct. 5.—The steambarge Nashua is believed to have foundered off Goderich. The barge Ryan, which was in tow of the Nashua, arrived here yesterday afternoon. Capt. Miller, of the Ryan, reports that when ten miles north of Goderich, at 3 o'clock, the Nashua let go the towline. A southwest gale was blowing and a heavy sea was running. The Nashua was rolling in the trough of the sea with disabled machinery, and had already lost her deck load of lumber.

The Ryan stood by, and at daylight the Nashua was again sighted flying a signal of distress. The steambarge Gratwick was signaled from the Ryan and was sent to where the Nashua was last seen.

Capt. Peterson, of the Gratwick, reported on arriving here that he had searched for four hours for the missing steamer, but could find nothing of her or the crew. The Nashua was commanded by Capt. Richard Millen, and was owned by the Sturtevant Lumber company, of Cleveland. She was built in Cleveland in 1888, and was valued at $15,000 and rated A 2 1-2.

Capt. A. Muir, of this city, was pilot on board the Nashua. Muir's family say they believe the Nashua is lost.

The Ogemaw Raised.

Milwaukee, Oct. 5.—Vessel captains arriving here report that the steamer Ogemaw, which foundered in 60 feet of water, between Burnt Bluff and Fayette, Big Bay de Noque, has been brought to the surface by the McMoran wrecking expedition. Everything was in readiness for freeing her hold of water.

Capt. Williams' Missing.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 5.—Capt. John Williams, of the schooner A. P. Bliss, has mysteriously disappeared, leaving a letter in which he admits that he is an embezzler. The money embezzled was the receipts of the last trip. Capt. Williams is one of the best known sailors on the lakes and was very popular. He was a resident of this city and for the last 12 years has worked for Mr. Pauly.

Goderich, Oct. 5.—Telegraphic inquiries along this shore of Lake Huron to-day fail to find any trace of the steambarge Nashua, which is believed to have foundered off this port yesterday.

Port Huron, Oct. 5.—No tidings have been received of the steamer Nashua. Mrs. Capt. Miller and Mrs. Capt. Shepard were on board in addition to the crew of a dozen men. A northwest gale is blowing to-day.

At the Crossing.

Lime Kilns, Oct. 5.—Down—Butteronia, Gratwick, 10:40 last night; Presley, Richards, 11:30; Montana, Inda, 11:50; Glasgow, 12:20 a. m.; Susquehanna, Vance, Wockon consort, 3; Forest City consort, 3:30; Milwaukee, 3:40; Hopkins consort, 4:30; Hooper, 5; Turtle consort, 5:30; Continental, Holland, Groton, 7:50.

Port Huron.

Port Huron, Oct. 5.—Down—Katahdin, Continental, Holland, Gilbert, 10 last night; Vienna consort, Fay, midnight; Panther consort, 3 a. m.; Columbia, Verona, Charlton barges, Canisteo consort, 4; Wyoming, 6; Fitzhugh, 7; Windsor, Groh, Scranton, 10.

Up—Coderus, 10 last night; Wolf, 4 a. m.; Omaha, 8; Norman, Frontenac, 10.

Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Grain rates dropped back to 2c on corn to Buffalo. Slow sales of corn for shipments and a surplus of boats combined to cause the drop to-day.

Duluth.

Duluth, Oct. 5.—Vessel agents here deny the report that better than 3 1-2c have been paid on wheat to Buffalo. The market is dull at that figure to-day.

Through the Soo.

Sault Ste Marie, Oct. 5.—Up—Prentice, Middlesex, Halstead, 10 last night; Savidge, 8 a. m.; Missoula, Hundred and Seven, 10.

Down—Gladstone, 1 a. m.; Mariana, Mariska, 7; Pathfinder, 7:30; Palmer, 8:30; Pioneer, Peerless, 9:30. Wind northwest; brisk, clear.

Through the Straits.

Mackinaw, Oct. 5.—Down—Lehigh, 11:20 last night; Morley and consort, 1:20 a. m.; William Chisholm, 2:15; Toledo, 2:30; Pueblo, 5:20; Griffin, 6:30; Forbes, Jeanette, 7:15; Kaliyuga, Fontana, 7:30.

Up—Langdon, 11 last night; Clyde, 2 a. m.; Arabia, 5:20. Wind north; fresh, clear, cold.

Cleveland.

Cleveland, Oct. 5.—Not a word from the steamer Nashua has reached here today. Capt. Millen, who sails her, owns a large share of the boat.

Ore freights are steady with no effort on the part of shippers or vessel owners to change the rates that have ruled for several days past. The supply of boats is liberal.

NEW BUILDING ON ST. CLAIR ST.

Mr. John T. Newton Makes Another Contract for Improving This Desirable Street.

To-day Mr. John T. Newton closed a contract for the erection of a four-story brick block on St. Clair street adjoining the wholesale hardware store of Bostwick & Braun. The building will be 36 feet front and 120 feet deep, and will be occupied by Bostwick & Braun. This announcement is doubly gratifying. The growth of the business of the enterprising hardware firm evidences the importance of Toledo as a wholesale distributing center. The investment of Mr. Newton is evidence of the confidence our men of means have in the present and future of Toledo.

Nebraska on Wheels.

Nebraska will give Toledoans an opportunity to examine some of its products on Monday, the 10th inst. A special train, "Nebraska on Wheels," will be at the Island House depot during the whole of the day. The advance agent is quite enthusiastic over his business, and talks about "a gorgeous display of Nebraska products," "a perfect grain palace on wheels, arranged and run at an expense of $25,000," "all under the supervision of the State Business Men's Association," "fifty of Nebraska's leading business men will accompany the train, and will give full information relative to the resources, attractions and advantages of the state." This exhibition is free, and Toledoans will be on hand to witness the sights, if they do not move west.

The Health of the State.

Secretary Probst, of the state board of health, has just sent out the summary of health reports received the past week. There is a total of 156 cases of diphtheria, with 26 deaths; scarlet fever, 72 cases, 20 deaths; whooping cough, 11 cases, 1 death; measles, 4 cases. Toledo reports five cases of diphtheria and one death; scarlet fever, three cases; typhoid fever, three cases and two deaths, and one case of whooping cough.

One form of insects resembles a broken bit of bamboo, and another is provided with hairs, distributed in such a way as to make it appear overgrown with moss. Others have assumed their form and color for the object of catching their prey.

IN THE ELECTRICAL WORLD.

Lighting of Trains and Other Advances in the Wonderful Science.

The electric lighting of railway trains is receiving considerable attention at present, says the New York Sun, and it is predicted that progress in that direction will be rapid and substantial within a few years. Three systems have been tried—direct driving of dynamos by small engines; discharge from accumulators without engines or dynamos; driving of dynamos by connection with the axel trucks. The first method has received the most attention in this country. The bogie truck is used here exclusively, and attempts to drive dynamos by connections with it have failed because no provision was made for maintaining the armature shaft and axle parallel at all angles of the truck, and because sand and dirt damaged the mechanism under the car. The problem has not been abandoned, however. Trials under the first system have been successful to a certain extent. In England the rigid-wheel base is used, and the third system seems to be the most promising there, according to competent authority. Accumulators are necessary to supply the lights not only while the train is at rest, but when it is running at a speed too slow to drive the dynamos at a useful voltage. The difficulties are peculiar, and the mechanical and electrical details are complicated, and, it is said that the light presents no advantage to passengers, the whole thing is simply a question of relative cost.

Storage batteries have been employed with varying success. Until recently the failures were due to the insufficient capacity of the batteries and the deterioration of the batteries, it is said. Improved methods of manufacture and more intelligent care in handling have, to a great extent, overcome objections and increased the life of a battery. Operations under the first system have been improved gradually in this country during the past five years. A vertical-stroke engine in the baggage car was substituted after a few trials by a three-cylinder reciprocating engine with three-inch cylinders and four-inch stroke. The engine and the dynamos are bolted to cast-iron bed plate and steam is furnished by the locomotive. Batteries are used in connection with the dynamo, each car having 32 cells under the center. The total number of lamps for a six-car train is 172 and the wiring is arranged so that the batteries will supply sufficient current if the connection with the dynamo be broken. Running the dynamo by connection with the axle of the truck is considered the ideal way, and electrical engineers believe that a reliable connection with the bogie truck will be made within a year.

The use of electric lights in searching for the wounded at night after a battle has been suggested by the results of experiments by the Austrian Medical Service under conditions as nearly as possible similar to those that would occur in actual warfare. The value of powerful search lights has been proved in naval affairs, and at Suakim and elsewhere on open ground. In the experiments referred to the soldiers carried knapsacks containing electric lanterns fed by storage batteries.

An electric light bath is one of the newest applications of the use of electricity. In a cabinet of the usual size of vapor bath the body is enclosed except the head. The incandescent lamps are arranged in groups around the body, numbering in all about 60. The light is reflected by the polished nickel sides of the cabinet. In the bath the temperature of a patient is raised to 148 degrees in 10 minutes, and the effect of the strong light is to brown the skin as if it had been exposed to the sun. It is said that the effects of the light and vapor baths combined are without the usual depressing effect of the vapor bath alone. It has been suggested also that the summer girl, after returning from the country, can utilize the light bath in tanning her shoulders to correspond in shade, the line of contrast having been objectionable heretofore.

In a new form of resistance a very fine wire is laid on an iron sheet and held thereto by a coating of enamel. The capacity of current reception and of radiating surface combined is enormous, it is reported. It can be adapted for motor rheostats, street cars, stage regulators, flatirons, heaters and small kettles.

RAILROADS.

The Quebec Central Reaching Out for Profit.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 5.—Wm. Whittaker, representing the English syndicate taking in the new debenture stock of the Western Counties railway, and Manager Brundy, of the Quebec Central railroad, are in Yarmouth.

The new stock represents $1,375,000 and will be used to pay off existing liabilities, relay the line with steel rails and put it in first-class condition. The syndicate want to obtain a majority of the original stock so as to control the road and offer the municipality of Yarmouth $20 000 of new debenture stock for its $10,000 of original stock.

QUIET ONCE MORE.

Tuskaboma, I. T., Oct. 5.—Everything is quiet here now. All parties have laid down their arms and agreed to keep the peace. The men arrested Sunday were released and those who desired to go home had their arms returned to them. Indian Agent Bennett says he will remain here with the soldiers for several weeks in order to prevent the possibility of further trouble.

ALPHABET OF PROVERBS.

The following Alphabet of Proverbs makes good Sunday reading:

A grain of prudence is worth a pound of craft.
Boasters are cousins to liars.
Confession of a fault makes half amends.
Denying a fault doubles it.
Envy shoots at others and wounds herself.
Foolish fear doubles danger.
God teaches us good things by our own hands.
He has hard work that has nothing to do.
It costs more to revenge wrongs than to suffer for them.
Knavery is the worst trade.
Learning makes a man fit company for himself.
Modesty is a guard to virtue.
Not to hear conscience is the way to silence it.
One hour to-day is worth two to-morrow.
Proud looks make foul work in fair faces.
Quiet conscience gives quiet sleep.
Richest is he that wants least.
Small faults indulged are little thieves that let in greater ones.
The boughs that bear most hang lowest.
Upright walking is sure walking.
Virtue and happiness are mother and daughter.
Wise men make more opportunities than they find.
You never lose by doing a good act.
Zeal without knowledge is fire without light

DEATH OF LITTLE ANDY

He was 6 years old, a little, sturdy, barelegged fellow, with a round, apple-cheeked face, blue eyes and tangled, sunburned hair. So absorbed was his father in local affairs, attending caucuses, arranging church meetings and considering schemes for the Christianizing of certain portion of Patagonia he had no time to spare for the child, who wandered around town very much at his own sweet will, neglect being his portion. His mother was a poor, silly, shallow creature, who, decked out in cheap finery, delighted to parade the main street of the little town and to lean by the hour over the counter of the general store talking to the woman behind it about the fashions the latter had seen on her latest trip to St. Joe.

Whether little Andy was born with "a natural inclination to evil," as the catechism has it, or whether his leaning toward depravity was acquired, is a matter of doubt. Certain it is that he came to be known as the bad boy of the town. His pleasure consisted of pranks not always harmless or merely mischievous. If a stone whizzed through the window of a citizen, if a youngster came home with a dexterously depleted marble bag, or if one of the infant class had been induced to poke his head into a hornet's nest "for honey," it was an accepted fact that Elihu Connor's Andy was either the culprit or instigator.

Thus it was from the time he could toddle till he came to the mature age of 6. Then—perhaps it was sunstroke, for the blaze which beat on the dull parish town that summer was enough to sicken the strongest; perhaps it was the poor food, ignorantly prepared; perhaps it was the lack of that love for which children instinctively if unconsciously pine—anyhow, he fell ill.

"Fever!" the doctor said.

The boys and girls with whom he had gone to school when he took it into his head to attend spoke of the matter to their parents with much interest.

"Andy Connor is sick," they said. Then added by way of distinction, "the bad boy, you know."

"Hush, Dolly!" one mother remonstrated. "You know you are not always good yourself."

"I know that," acknowledged the tot unabashed, "but he ain't ever good. He's always bad. I guess he was maded bad."

Days passed, days with high winds and swirling dust and blasts of furnace heat from the south. And in the dark, dirty room of the little old house which skulked among the cottonwoods the young sufferer lay and moaned and tossed and babbled. The doctor came, left medicine from his leather case, and went away—half in despondence, half in anger.

"It is nursing the boy needs," he said. And then, recalling the frivolous mother, he muttered: "He'll get no intelligent nursing there."

For weeks the child could eat nothing. When appetite returned he was given greasy messes, at which the weak stomach rebelled.

"Let him alone," said his father, "he's a bit airish."

"When he gits to runnin' round like he ust, his hankerin' for fried pork an' sody biscuits with sorghum 'ill come back," prophesied his mother cheerfully.

And so July burned itself away, and with August came a day of rain, cool, gusty, refreshing rain. Andy, who was sitting up and dressed, as far as he was ever dressed, begged to be let run out.

"Go on," assented his mother, who was sewing white lace and green roses on a hat to wear to a harvest supper at the church, while the flies settled down in swarms on the pile of unwashed dinner dishes. "Seein' you've beat that fever, I guess you ain't sugar to melt in a bit of rain."

So he went out and ran around, his little thin, bare, hot feet finding out the puddles and plashing in them. He even opened his mouth to catch the raindrops. They tasted so much sweeter than the water which had stood by his bed for hours at a time. When a sudden sense of feeling tired fell upon him he sat down in delicious enjoyment of the coolness and of the fact that his cotton shirt waist and denim pants were soaking wet. All at once he fell to shivering violently. He went stumbling into the house, a fierce pain beating in his heavy head. That night he was worse. Fever had again gripped him. In two days he was dead.

"I don't see," moaned his mother, "what killed him. We gave him his medicine regular."

"He couldn't have had no constitution," decided his father, shaking his head, "not to have stood a few weeks of sickness."

He did not marvel at what constitution the child must have had to have lived for six years.

"Dead!" repeated the men in town. "Andy Conner's boy? Best thing could have happened him. He was tough as a pineknot, he was!"

And the children whispered in an awed voice: "The bad boy is dead."

Only one mother, fearful for the future of her own wayward laddie, missed from among the others who used to run past her door from school the hardy, half-clad little chap who had fought life single-handed and had died fighting, and she said to herself: "He was so young! He could not have been very bad." And the tears filled her eyes as she recalled the lines of our poet of the children:

The goodest man they is an't good
Ez the baddest little child!

The latest novelty in the dramatic line is a play in which cannibals are to be a feature, when produced at Vienna. Its author is Mr. Westmark, who has lived in Africa, and his play, "Among the Anthropophagi," is an attempt to put on the stage something approximating what he has seen in Africa. Stanley and De Brazza are among the characters, and if they are true to life they will certainly have a quarrel before the play ends. The action commences in Brussels with the departure of explorers bound for the Congo. There are scenes at Leopoldville and other stations, but the crowning event is a battle with cannibals.

There are at present in England and Wales no fewer than 126,000 places where drink may be procured. These places vary in size and character from a cellar to a palace. There is one public house, or beer house, to every 230 of the population. Among the counties Huntingdon evinces the greatest demand for intoxicants, having a public house for every 96 inhabitants. Among the urban communities it is, curiously enough, the old cathedral cities which exhibit the greatest proportion of drinking shops. Their average is one public house to every 157 inhabitants, and in Canterbury, the see of the primate, there is one to every 123.

Hindoostan is about 25 times as large as the state of New York, and the Sahara desert has almost exactly the number of square miles as the whole of the United States. The Mediterranean sea would cut the United States in two across its greatest breadth, making an ocean sea from New York to Vancouver. Great Britain and Ireland have about the same number of square miles as Arizona. Madagascar is about as large as New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Virginia and North Carolina combined. The area of England proper and that of the state of Iowa are almost identical.

In the early day of England wedding rings were made of rushes, but in this age even more curious materials are sometimes pressed into service when emergency demands it. Many cases are on record where rings of brass or iron and curtain rings and door keys have taken the place of the bands of gold which nervous grooms have mislaid. One bride is said to have been married with a leather ring, cut from a finger of one of her gloves, and another embarrassed young couple were relieved by a suggestion from the minister that the wedding ring be cut from a visiting card. Quakers and Swiss protestants do not use rings at their marriage ceremonies. The Irish have a strong objection to any but gold wedding rings. In St. Kilda wedding rings are made of worsted.

George William Curtis made a very happy response to the praises of friends at a dinner given at the Tavern club of Boston some years since upon his birthday. Dr. Holmes, Mr. Lowell and President Norton had all said their say and said it well, when Mr. Curtis was called upon to respond. By way of illustrating his own case he told the story of an oriental prince and his mentor. Prince and mentor walked abroad one day, the latter carrying in his hand a jar, which he presently uncorked. From the open mouth of the vessel rose a gas, and this the mentor lighted. Thick fumes curled up from the burning gas and gradually took such shape that the prince could not help recognizing traces of his own features, though glorified and ennobled. "Can it be that this picture is me?" asked the flattered prince. "Yes," smiled the mentor, "not, however, as you are, but as you ought to be."

Adulteration is bad and sanitation is good, but some of the results shown by vigilant inspectors and clever chemists in their efforts to show the frightful dangers that surround us and run down offenders against sanitary laws are very funny. A wholesale and highly respectable grocer was tried in a London court a few days ago for selling tartaric acid adulterated with lead. The acid was used in making lemonade, and the lead in it got there from the vessels in which it was manufactured. The prosecution showed that the tartaric acid contained .00026 per cent. of lead. The defense showed that in order to get a twentieth part of a grain of the poison into one's system it would be necessary to drink lemonade every day for six months at the rate of 220 bottles a day. The experts added gravely that before the twentieth part of a grain could be taken in that manner the experimenter would die of dyspepsia. The charge was dismissed, but to satisfy the sanitary officials the judge agreed to "state a case," presumably as a warning to other evildoers.

Mr. R. J. Nettleship, tutor and fellow of Balliol college, Oxford, and brother of Professor Nettleship, who perished on Mt. Blanc August 25, from the cold and exhaustion of a night passed in a bitter snowstorm, not far below the summit, was unusually loved and honored—as much, at least, for his gracious and simple character as for his fine scholarship. The death resulted from imprudence in attempting the ascent on a day when, though the morning was fine, the clouds were gathering thickly, and a Fohn wind was blowing. His two guides, though courageous and faithful, were not firm and peremptory, and allowed Mr. Nettleship to risk what he should never have been allowed to risk. The night of the 24th was passed in a hole in the snow. Mr. Nettleship being, it is said, the gayest of the three, and clinging to keep up the guides' spirits. On the morning of the 25th he insisted on going on, though the snow-storm continued, and had obliterated all trace of the right track. He soon staggered, and became unsteady, and at last fell forward on his face, took each guide by the hand, closed his eyes and expired.

Three Sleepless Nights

MARLBORO, Ohio, April 14, 1892.

The Hand Medicine Co.

DEAR SIRS:—Having used nearly four bottles of your Colic Cure, I forward you this testimonial, hoping it may benefit many mothers with suffering babies. I am the happy mother of triplets, all girls; now 14 weeks old. When they were about 3 weeks old they were taken with a very severe attack of wind colic. There were three days and nights I had two of them in my arms nearly all the time. I tried all the remedies I had ever heard of without any relief. A sample of your Colic Cure was handed me, which I used with the very best results, and I sent for more at once and I shall recommend it to every mother. I feel there is no language strong enough to express its value. I have also used several of the other Remedies and found each to be exactly as you represented them to be. I trust the Lord will forever bless you for procuring a remedy to relieve suffering innocence.

Wayne Macveigh Deserts the Republican Ship.

He Has Entered the Democratic Camp.

He Gives His Reasons and They Are Such As Will Have a Telling Effect.

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—Ex-Attorney General Wayne Macveigh has written a letter to John W. Carter, secretary of the Massachusetts Reform club, in which he announces that he will vote for Grover Cleveland. The letter says in part:

"As both parties have presented unexceptionable candidates there is no reason why the differences which exist upon questions of public policy should be discussed otherwise than in good humor, and with entire respect for each other's opinions.

"In the present campaign, what may fairly be called the false alarms of the canvass, will prove of little value, because of the general confidence in the safe and conservative character of both candidates."

The writer finds himself in full accord with the democratic party, and finds it more easy to act with them because the republican party, securing its return to power four years ago by promising to preserve matters as they were, at once embarked upon what he regards as a reckless and revolutionary policy, even overturning all the safeguards of legislation in the house of representatives, in their haste to pass the force bill, both, to his mind, unnecessary and unwise measures.

Passing over the force bill with a reference to the earnest and widespread opposition thereto, and to the advocacy, two years ago, of the measure by President Harrison, Gen. Macveigh takes up the tariff, of which he says:

"The economic evils, however great, of the McKinley bill and the unreasonable system of protection it represents are of far less importance to my mind than the moral evils which follow in their wake. In deciding for what purposes the masses of the people may properly be taxed, it must not be forgotten that taxes have a wonderful capacity for filtering through all intervening obstacles till they reach the bowed back of toil and resting there, and therefore the giving of bounties, under any form of taxation, is mainly the giving away of the wages of labor. The sad truth that the curse of the poor is their poverty is illustrated in nothing more clearly than in the undue share they suffer of the burdens of taxation.

"But even such inequality and injustice are the least of the evils, for while such a system endures, political corruption is absolutely sure to increase, as such a system not only invites but it requires the corrupt use of money, both at the polls and in congress.

"The republican party ought to be an honest money party, and it would be if it could; but while it demanded increased bounties for its favorite manufacturers, it could not refuse increased bounties to the silver producers, as the votes they control were probably necessary to the passage of the McKinley bill. The poison of a debased currency is making itself daily more and more felt in every channel of business and finance, and it is inevitably driving gold out of the country and leading us to all the evils of a fluctuating and therefore dishonest currency based upon silver alone.

"If congress was to levy taxes upon the people, to confer bounties upon certain classes of manufacturers, it would be very natural that the pension agents should also join hands to increase their fees by an indiscriminate granting of pensions. The result is that nearly a generation after the close of the war there is an increase of the vast sums passing through the pensions agents' hands, until now the total amount staggers belief, and has become of itself a very serious burden upon the treasury. Surely there is neither reason nor justice in legislation which destroys all distinction between the discharge of duty and the shirking of it, between loyal service and desertion of the colors, between wounds received in battle and diseases contracted in the pursuits of peace."

There is still another great and increasing evil, chiefly traceable to the addition to the maintenance of an excessive tariff since the war, and the constant meddling with it to make it higher, and that is the bringing to our shores of these vast swarms of undesirable immigrants. Just as the duties upon imported merchandise have been increased, so has the grade of imported labor been lowered.

As the republican party is now definitely committed to the policy of taxing the people for the purpose of giving bounties to such persons or interests as can secure the necessary votes in congress, so the democratic party is now as definitely committed to the policy of restricting taxation to the needs of the government for public purposes alone. Gen. Macveigh is convinced that the old causes in which he is interested cannot hope for success until the avowed policy of the republican party on this subject is overthrown.

WEDDED IN THE WEST.

Burlington, Ia., Oct. 5.—The marriage of Miss Edith Forbes Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Perkins, of Boston, Mr. Perkins being president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road, and Mr. Frederick Cunningham, of Boston, was celebrated at the magnificent summer mansion of the Perkins family at noon to-day. Only the immediate friends of the two families witnessed the ceremony, but for the reception which followed 400 tickets had been issued. The wedding presents were numerous and in the aggregate of great value.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

Belleville, Ill., Oct. 5.—The annual reunion of the soldiers and sailors of southern Illinois opened here to-day with the largest attendance in many years. The reunion will continue for three days, and the veterans will be addressed by Senators Palmer and Chilton, John C. Black, ex-Governor Ogle-by, and other prominent men of both parties.

LORD MAYOR KNILL.

He Is Having Considerable Religious Trouble.

London, Oct. 5.—Archbishop Vaughan, Cardinal Manning's successor as archbishop of Westminster, has written a letter concerning Lord Mayor Knill's attitude toward the established church on official occasions attended with religious services.

Knill said just before his election that he would not attend such services, but would appoint a representative. In this Archbishop Vaughan supports him by declaring that a Catholic could not participate in the services of a false religion.

This declaration is declared a poor return for the toleration of the protestants who elected Knill despite the bitter opposition of many of their co-religionists. The agitation against Knill has received a fresh impetus from Archbishop Vaughan's interference, and an effort is making to prepare a national protest against his incumbency of the office.

TRIENNIAL COUNCIL

Of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Session.

Its Work Will Occupy Nearly the Whole of the Present Month.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 5.—The general triennial council of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States opened here to-day, and will continue in session for the greater part of an entire month. This is one of the most important of the ecclesiastical gatherings of the year. The delegates, lay and clerical, representing every diocese in the country, are the credited representatives of 500,000 communicants, and of a denomination which is the wealthiest of all the religious demoninations in the United States, for, according to the religious statistics of the forthcoming United States census, its property amounts to $73,000,000, or $146 per capita.

The council which assembled this morning consists of two houses, the house of bishops and the house of deputies. There are 67 bishops constituting the upper house and four laymen from each of the 52 dioceses constituting the lower house.

The concurrence of both houses to the validity of decisions governing and binding upon the church, but legislation may originate in either of them. Owing to the character of the subjects to be considered the present convention will be one of the most important that the denomination has ever held, and is destined to be memorable in the history of the denomination.

Even standing room was at a premium in the Emmanuel church at 11 o'clock this morning when the proceedings of the council were inaugurated with the beautiful but simple service of the church. The members of the house of bishops sat within the chancel.

The ground floor was given up to the clerical delegates and their lay brethren, while admission to the rear of the edifice and to the galleries was strictly by ticket, and these portions were occupied by prominent and visiting members of the denomination. This afternoon at 3:30 the council was formally organized, the clergy and laity assembling in Emmanuel church and the house of bishops in the parish house adjoining the church.

The venerable bishop of Connecticut, the Right Rev. John Williams, D. D., by virtue of seniority, presided in the house of bishops, and was assisted when necessary by Right Rev. Henry A. Neely, D. D., bishop of Maine. It is probable that the Rev. Morgan Dix, S. T. D., D. C. L., will be selected to preside over the deliberations of the house of deputies. He is rector of the far-famed Trinity church, New York.

Many questions of international importance and interest will come before the council for its action.

At the last convention, held in New York in 1889, the committee on the hymnal was directed to revise its work and report to the convention. The report of the commission on the standard book of common prayer is also ready for presentation. Among other matters to be reported on are the validity of Moravian orders and the question of a conference with the English church as to a board of foreign missions.

Committees on canons of the house of bishops, in regard to the relations of wardens, vestrymen and rectors in regard to marriage, divorce, etc., will also report, and also those appointed to consider the government of brotherhoods, sisterhoods, missions and mission priests, and that on the due supply of candidates for holy orders.

Special interest will be excited by the report of the committee on Christian unity of the different denominations in connection with the action on the same subject by other bodies, especially the Presbyterian churches; also by the report of the committee on the spiritual care of immigrants. The question of the division of dioceses into provinces under a bishop, with an assistant bishop or bishops over a province or provinces will also be discussed.

STRANGELY MISSING.

Denver, Col., Oct. 5.—Nellie Coburn, the wife of J. E. Coburn, a wealthy saloon owner, has been mysteriously missing since Sunday. When last seen she was splendidly dressed and had many valuable jewels and $100 with her. Elopement was first hinted at, but it was developed that Sunday night she asked a policeman her way home, appearing to have forgotten her way. Her friends persist that she has either been drugged or become insane.

CHILDHOOD AND OLD AGE.

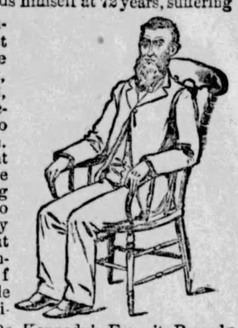
The Tender Grandchild and a Well-to-do Old Gentleman of 72, Acknowledge Obligations.

The preparation that can be taken with safety and benefit by the tender infant, and that nourishes, strengthens, and cures the aged and infirm, is one that can truly be called scientific. Such a preparation was discovered by Dr. David Kennedy and named Favorite Remedy. It is prescribed and recommended the world over, by the medical profession, as the best medicine produced for the cure of all diseases arising from an impure condition of the blood.

This beautiful child whose picture is shown here, is the grandchild of Mr. J. E. Palmateer of Athens, N. Y., who had been cured of gravel in the kidneys and insomonia, (sleeplessnes) finishes his letter by saying:

"But this is not all Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has done for our family. My little grand daughter had eczema the worst way; she was a mass of running sores from her ears around the entire neck to her cheeks. My wife gave her Favorite Remedy in small doses and what was the result? To-day the sores have all disappeared, the skin is smooth and clear, and she is fat and rugged and as bright as a silver dollar.

Mr. Solomon Davis of North Kortright, N. Y., finds himself at 72 years, suffering from neuralgia, felt tired all the time, weak, languid, poor appetite, and no ambition. Thought at his age nothing could do him any good, but like hundreds of other people in his condition tried Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and began to get better at once, and now feels as hale and hearty as he ever did.



It is particularly pleasing when sickness is as common as now, to know that there is a remedy that cures disease, builds up the weak and debilitated, strengthens the nerves, and has restored to health and strength, men and women who have been confined to their homes for months on beds of sickness.

A SCHOLARLY WAIF.

Homeless and Friendless, He May Yet Become a President.

A call was sent in to the Southern police station, at 11 o'clock last night, from a box at the corner of Howard and Tenth streets. The response at the station was quick. Two big patrolmen were dispatched with the driver and away the heavy wagon rolled and rumbled.

A policeman at Tenth street had the prisoner. It was a boy in knickerbockers, 8 years of age, he said, frail and of meek disposition, and he had been taken up because he was without a place to sleep. It was a peculiar story that the boy told, and though at first the police discredited it, they were unable to break it.

"My name is Chester Sonneborn," he said, in reply to questions at the station. "I used to live at 136 Fillmore street, but I don't live anywhere now.

"About the 5th or 6th of July—I forget which day it was—my mamma sent me away for a little while, and when I went back home she was gone and the house was locked up. She ain't my real mamma; she's my step-mamma. My first mamma died about three years ago. My father married this mamma six months ago and she never liked me. She don't like children.

"When I went back home my father was gone, too. I don't know where he went, and I haven't seen him since. His name is D. Sonneborn, and he worked for J. E. Peck in a clothing store. No, I don't know what D. stands for; mamma used to call him Dave, though. I guess they must have gone to Oakland or Berkeley, or off somewhere like that, and I guess they didn't want me any more."

"But where have you been since July 5 if you haven't been at home?" asked the captain.

"Oh, I've stayed around. I slept some nights outdoors and some nights at the engine house. I couldn't get in at home and somebody else is living there now. When I was hungry I went around to the bakeries and asked them to give me some bread, and they did. To-night a man gave me a cup of coffee, and then they brought me here.

"Daytimes I went to school. I go to the John Swett grammar school. Last night I slept out in a lot over near the school on McAllister street."

"Now, have you any idea how long you have been living that way, as you say? Do you know when the 5th of July was, or did somebody tell you to say all this?" asked the policeman.

The boy counted on his fingers.

"Thirteen days," he replied.

Chester further said that last April his father moved here from Los Angeles, where he had worked in Pilcher & Gray's clothing store.

The little fellow was lightly clad, wearing black knickerbockers, a light flannel shirt and a gray cap of military style. The shirt was almost spotless, and the generally neat appearance of the boy seemed to contradict the story of sleeping in the field and roaming uncared for since early in the month, but the boy won the policemen to believe in his assertions, and he was given a preferred sleeping place for the night in the captain's big overcoat.—San Francisco Examiner.

THE VICTORIA CROSS.

Three Officers Who Will Receive This Famous Reward of Bravery.

It is announced in Tuesday night's Gazette that the queen has signified her intention of conferring the decoration of the Victoria Cross upon three officers of her Majesty's army, whose claims have been submitted for her Majesty's approval, for the conspicuous bravery displayed by them during the recent operations in the Hunza and Nagar country on the Gilget frontier in December, 1891.

The officers are Captain Fenton John Aylmer, of the Royal Engineers, and Lieutenants G. H. Boisragon and John Manners Smith, of the Indian staff corps. Captain Aylmer receives his cross for his conspicuous bravery in the assault and capture of the Nilt Fort on December 2, 1891. According to the official record, this officer accompanied the storming party, burst open the inner gate with gun cotton, which he placed and ignited, and though severely wounded, once in the leg and twice in the right hand, fired 19 shots with his revolver, killing several of the enemy, and remained fighting until, fainting from loss of blood, he was carried out of action. Lieutenant Guy Hudleston Boisragon also earns the Victoria Cross for his conspicuous bravery in the assault and capture of the Nilt Fort. He is described as having led the assault with dash and determination and forced his way through difficult obstacles to the inner gate, when he returned for reinforcements, moving intrepidly to and fro under a heavy cross fire until he had collected sufficient men to relieve the hardly pressed storming party and drive the enemy from the fort. The Victoria Cross, to be given to Lieutenant John Manners Smith is awarded for his conspicuous bravery when leading the storming party at the attack and capture of the strong position occupied by the enemy near Nilt, in the Hunza-Nagar country, on December 20, 1891.

The official record says the position was, owing to the nature of the country, an extremely strong one, and had barred the advance of a force for 17 days. It was eventually forced by a small party of 50 rifles, with another of equal strength in support. The first of these parties was under the command of Lieutenant Smith, and it was entirely owing to his splendid leading and the coolness, combined with dash he displayed while doing so that a success was obtained. For nearly four hours, on the face of a cliff which was almost precipitous, he steadily moved his handful of men from point to point as the difficulties of the ground and showers of stones from above gave him an opportunity, and during the whole of this time he was in such a position as to be unable to defend himself from any attack the enemy might choose to make. He was the first man to reach the summit, within a few yards of one of the enemy's sungars, which was immediately rushed, Lieutenant Smith pistoling the first man.

A LITTLE DUTCH GIRL AND HER WONDERFUL SCISSORS.

More than two hundred years ago a little girl was born at Amsterdam, in Holland, whose name was Joanne Koerten. She was a peculiar child in that she cared nothing whatever for play and sport, but found her greatest delight in making copies of things about her, imitating in wax every kind of fruit, and making on silk, with colored floss, exact copies of paintings, which were thought wonderful.

But after she had become very accomplished in music, spinning and embroidery she abandoned all these for a still more extraordinary art—that of cutting.

One is seized with astonishment in looking at her work, for all that the engraver accomplishes with the graver, she effected with the scissors.

She executed landscapes, marine views, flowers, animals, and portraits of people of such striking resemblance that she was for a time quite the wonder of Europe.

She used white papers for her cuttings, placing them over a black surface, so that the minute openings made by her scissors formed the "light and shade."

The czar, Peter the Great, and others of high rank paid her honor. One man high in office vainly offered her a thousand florins for three small cuttings. The empress of Germany paid her four thousand florins for a trophy she had cut, bearing the arms of Emperor Leopold, crowned with eagles and surrounded by a garland of flowers. She also cut the emperor's portrait, which can now be seen in the Royal Art Gallery in Vienna.

CURES SCROFULA

Mrs. E. J. Rowell, Medford, Mass., says her mother has been cured of Scrofula by the use of four bottles of S. S. S. after having had much other treatment, and being reduced to quite a low condition of health, as it was thought she could not live.

S. S. S. Cured my little boy of hereditary scrofula which appeared all over his face. For a year I had given up all hope of his recovery, when finally was induced to use S. S. S. A few bottles cured him, and no symptoms of the disease remain.

INHERITED SCROFULA

Mrs. T. L. MATHERS, Matherville, Miss.

Our book on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free. SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

A great many people went to see her, and she kept a book in which princes and princesses wrote their names. After she died, which was when she had lived 65 years, her husband, Adrian Block, erected a monument to her memory, and had designed upon it the portraits of these titled visitors. Her cuttings were so correct in effect and so tasteful as to give both dignity and value to her work, and constitute her an artist whose exquisite skill with scissors has never before nor since been equaled. So both her art and her monument were unique, and have kept her in "memory green" now for nearly two hundred and fifty years.—Selected.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Julian Ralph is a native of New York city, a little under 40 years of age.

Harvey Evans, of Raglesville, Ind., is reputed to have a pearl button from Mad Anthony Wayne's coat.

Allen Milton Browning, of Huntington, W. Va., has led six brides to the altar and is the father of 37 children.

Lord Roseberry is credited with this sarcastic comment on the taste of the people of Sydney, New South Wales: "They sit on 22 guinea chairs and look at 16 shilling oleographs."

Judge Thomas Moore Pashal, the democratic nominee for congress in one of the Texas districts, wears a mustache that measures 16 inches from tip to tip. When it comes to a hirsute showdown Paschal is as broad as Peffer is long.

Nero was not the only famous man addicted to fiddle-playing at critical moments. Immediately after the battle of Polotsk the great French general, Saint-Cyr, shut himself up in a Jesuit convent, and fiddled for two days. But he won the battle.

Rossini was once promised by a friend a dinner of turkey and truffles. The friend showed a disposition to postpone the dinner and to make excuses. One day Rossini said: "Well, my dear friend, when are we to have that turkey?" "Truffles are not good at this season," said his friend. "Don't you believe it," replied Rossini; "that report was started by the turkeys."

John G. Butcher, the new member of parliament for the ancient city of York, is an Irishman, and as bitterly anti-Irish in sentiment as only one of his Cromwellian ancestry can be. His father, the late Bishop Butcher, was distinguished both as a divine and as an Orangeman. Mr. Butcher is a fellow of Trinity college and a barrister by profession.

Hon. Julius Sterling Morton, once governor and now the democratic candidate for governor of Nebraska, is sometimes called the father of Arbor day. It is very largely owing to his exertions that Nebraska advanced so rapidly in the establishment of artificial groves, now having about 250,000 acres of growing forest and some 800,000 planted trees, besides a vast area of fruit trees, grape vines, bushes, and minor plants. He was born in New York state in 1832, and was graduated from Union college in 1854.

RUINED BY A GOOD SUGGESTION

A Society Man's Unhappy Encounter With a Piece of Excellent Advice.

"There goes a man I hate. I think I always will dislike him, and I'm glad of it."

A casual glance at the person indicated enabled one to see that he was one of those happy, horrible persons who are loaded with excellent advice.

"Looks like a harmless sort of a fellow," was the answer. "I know him slightly, and I don't know that I ever heard anything bad about him."

"Well, then I'll be the first one to tell you something bad about him, and I'm glad of that, too."

"You know what Wilson can do in the way of a luncheon. He did it for me last Wednesday. It was one of those delightfully damp, exhilarating spreads that Wilson is famous for. When we had finished I was in the first warm flood of a shower that bade fair to float me home with all the cares and troubles of this world washed away for twelve long hours.

"Of course, I drifted into the club, just to keep the tide at full flood and see if I couldn't find another craft or two sailing the same course and with the same cargo. There in a chair, dry, cool and quiet sat Mr. Good Intentions. He didn't need a chart and compass to tell which way I was headed. He promptly hailed me.

"'I thought you never drank when you were going out with ladies,' said he.

"'No more I don't,' said I, 'but that can't prevent my finishing up this load, for I'm not going out with any one about whose person there clings the slightest odor of sobriety.'

"'But you are going to Mrs. Bidwell's ball, and that's to-night,' said the beast.

"The thought almost gave me an attack of heart failure. I was going to Mrs. Bidwell's ball, and I had asked a girl to dance the cotillon. What was I to do? Good Intentions knew just exactly what. He cheerfully suggested a Turkish bath. Oh! I'll get even with him some day for that.

"Like an enchanted idiot I hired a cab to tow me off to the nearest bath house. A Turkish bath ruins me at any time, and getting sober in one is almost equivalent to notifying the coroner. In the course of a couple of hours I crawled back to the club my head full of ice water, and my body feeling as if I had been petted with a garden rake.

"The first man I struck was Bidwell. Bidwell had taken a moist lunch himself. He was just where I would have been if I hadn't encountered that well-intentioned hoodo. In a clammy, disheartened way I sprang upon him with that awful story of Mrs. Bidwell's ball. But Bidwell is more than seven. He calmly waved one limp hand over a decanter of whisky, fished his engagement list out of his pocket with the other hand and showed me the words, 'At home—dance,' written opposite Thursday.

"That good-hearted imbecile had made me sober up in a Turkish bath just twenty-four hours too soon."—N. Y. Recorder.

ATHLETES OF THE PRESENT DAY.

J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic union, president of the Pastime Athletic club, and Athletic Editor of The Sporting Times, writes:

"For years I have been actively connected with athletic sports. I always found it to my advantage to use Allcock's Porous Plasters while in training, as they quickly remove soreness and stiffness; and when attacked with any kind of pains, the result of slight colds, I always use Allcock's with beneficial results. I have noticed that most athletes of the present day use nothing else but Allcock's Plasters."

A BOA CONSTRICTOR SHOT.

The Snake Escaped From One of Pawnee Bill's Side Shows Last July.

A loud report that sounded like an explosion of powder from the Forepaugh park startled the neighborhood around Broad and Dauphin streets late yesterday afternoon. Several hundred people, wondering why there should be an explosion on Sunday, hurried to the park to see what was the matter.

After the crowd had kicked at the gate several minutes, it was opened by M. Cross, who takes care of the grounds. He informed the crowd that he had just shot a young boa constrictor with his gun. Cross brought the snake to the sidewalk and showed it. The women and children were so frightened that they ran away. Half of the snake's head was shot off. The boa measured 6 feet 4 inches in length and was nearly 10 1-2 inches in circumference. The presence of the boa at the park is not a mystery.

When Pawnee Bill exhibited his Wild West show on the grounds in July last, a snake charmer had a sort of sideshow. At the close of the exhibition the "charmer" missed one of his boas. Cross and some others in the neighborhood knew about this, but it was supposed that the snake had crawled into a sewer.

The snake was almost forgotten until Mr. Cross began to miss some of the chickens which he keeps on the base ball grounds. Then the thought of the snake occurred to him. Yesterday he got his friend William O'Connor, milk dealer, who also lives there about, to search the grounds. Cross put a big load of shot in his gun, and the two began the search.

When Cross and Connor were walking over the grandstand seats toward Thirteenth street, peering through the seats, Cross was the first to discover the snake, and by promptly shooting he almost scared the wits out of O'Connor, near whose head the gun barrel was.

The snake was crawling briskly on the ground under the seats. Cross said his "blood didn't run cold" because the snake was so far below him. He declares that immediately upon being struck by shot the snake flapped up its tail so powerfully as almost to break one of the seats. One shot did the business.—Philadelphia Press.

RAILROADS AND RHEUMATISM.

Two Important Factors in the Life of Passenger Agent Tooker.

One of the most popular passenger agents in the United States, as well as one of the ablest, is Mr. M. B. Tooker, of the Grand Trunk R. R. His home is at Suspension Bridge, N. Y.

Mr. Tooker, whose portrait is printed here, is known everywhere as a man of great energy and push. His advice has always gone a long way in railroad matters, and he is possessed of those rare qualities which make him a good friend and adviser in every-day matters of life.

Several years ago Mr. Tooker was a sufferer from that very common complaint rheumatism, which has been notably prevalent for the last few years. As every one knows, it is one of the most painful of disenses, and until a recent discovery of Prof. Phelps of Dartmouth college, was considered almost always incurable.

Passenger Agent Tooker.

Mr. Tooker's experience was very much like that of scores of people in probably every town large enough to have a drug store.

"For two years," says Mr. Tooker, "I suffered from rheumatism and kidney trouble, for which I tried various remedies with no success. A clergyman advised me to try Paine's celery compound. I did so and was surprised at the effect. After taking one bottle I was entirely relieved. I have taken two bottles and am cured."

As a well-known and conservative physician in Toledo has said, "Paine's celery compound is generally considered a certain specific for the cure of rheumatism, and so much better results are obtained from it than from all the usual remedies, that it has become a regular prescription among the most eminent practitioners. I prescribe it regularly, and believe that every rheumatic victim should use it."

DEATH OF ST. SERGIUS.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—A pilgrimage to Teoitsa to celebrate the five hundredth anniversary of the death of St. Sergius, will begin on Monday from the Kremlin in Moscow. The pilgrims number 25,000 and are led by 1,200 clergymen with images and relics. At Troitsa the Moscow pilgrims will be met by some 75,000 pilgrims from other parts of Russia. The people carry their food with them and sleep by the wayside at night. Mounted cossacks along the route protect them and keep stragglers from wandering from the road.

INDIANA APPORTIONMENT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—The supreme court of Indiana has decided to hear no argument on the apportionment suits until the 11th ult. The court has also instructed the attorney general of Indiana to represent the people. When the case comes up written and oral arguments will be heard.

HUNTERS, ATTENTION.

Tickets are now on sale at reduced rates via Michigan Central R. R. to the hunting regions of northern Michigan. For further particulars regarding rates, etc., address Wm. Gates, Ticket Agent, Toledo, O., or Wm. J. Seinwerth, S. P. Agent, Cincinnati, O.

CHILD DROWNED.

Tiffin, Oct. 5.—(Special)—Job Baker's 10-year-old daughter fell into Sycamore creek and was drowned. The family reside near Melmore.

A LIVE PAPER.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—The Evening News of this city has severed its connection with the Associated Press and to-day began receiving the full service of the United Press.

BACK TO WORK.

St. Marys, O., Oct. 5.—(Special)—The Bimel Standish chair works last night compromised with their men, over 125 in number, and they will resume work next week, after having been out on a strike for over four months. The men are all unionists, and struck for an advance in the scale of prices similar to those paid in Pittsburg.

A special train will be run to Wauseon for the bicycle races on Friday next, enabling the wheelmen of the city and their friends to return to the city for the evening.

Round trip, $1.70.

THE CITY DADS.

They Are Looking at the Pavements.

The Merits of Land and Lake Asphalt As Shown in Detroit.

Detroit, Oct. 5.—(Special)—If the municipal committee that is here in search of information relative to the qualities of various asphalts can rely on practical evidences, and seemingly fair representations, there can be no doubt but that the verdict will be unanimously in favor of the lake as compared with the land asphalt. Jefferson avenue, which the committee inspected to-day, is constructed partly of land and partly of lake asphalt. The pavement was laid two years ago, and the lake asphalt is seemingly as good as new, while the other is full of holes and is even now being re-surfaced and repaired.

Ferry avenue, another street visited, shows a similar state of affairs. It remains, however, for the committee to discover if the two grades are the same as those proposed to be laid in Toledo streets.

No matter which class is selected, one good result for the city has been achieved, and that is that the price has, by reason of the competition, been reduced from $2.75 to $1.90 per foot front.

Mayor Emmick failed to put in an appearance to-day, and the committee as it now is comprises Aldermen Graham, Wolfman and Hassenzahl, and Councilmen Tanner, Rutherford, Osborne, Gill and Doner, City Engineer Miller, Mr. W. G. Root, representing the Warren-Scharf company, and representatives of the Bee and Blade.

The committee spent a pleasant day in riding around Detroit, and at 7:35 last evening left for New York over the Michigan Central.

The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is well known to the medical profession, and universally approved. The reputation of the firm guarantees excellence and uniformity in the medicine, and the world's experience for nearly half a century has fully demonstrated its value.

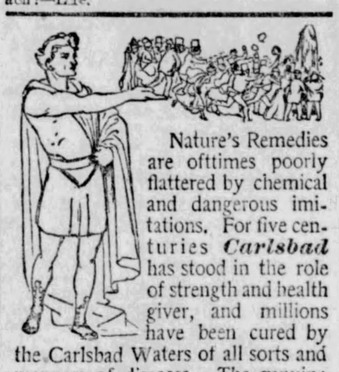
AUSTRIAN CONSULATE.

Vienna, Oct. 5.—Count Kalnoky, the imperial prime minister, has promised to insert in the next budget credits for the establishment of Austrian consulates in various American cities, where they do not now exist.

HIS ALARM.

Physician (after examination)—Well, colonel, you have water on the brain.

Kentuckian—Great heavens, doctor! Is there any danger of it reaching my stomach?—Life.



Nature's Remedies are oftimes poorly flattered by chemical and dangerous imitations. For five centuries Carlsbad has stood in the role of strength and health giver, and millions have been cured by the Carlsbad Waters of all sorts and manners of diseases. The genuine Carlsbad Sprudel Salts are the Carlsbad water solidified, bottled, and placed in every American Drug Store, to relieve the public of malassimilation of food, flatulent obesity, catarrh of the stomach, and gives to all a healthy appetite, strong, vigorous flesh, a perfect digestion. Take no imitations. Eisner & Mendelson Co., N. Y., Sole Agents.

CHILI CLAIMS.

A New Treaty Regarding Their Treatment.

Minister Egan Returns With It in His Inside Pocket.

New York, Oct. 4.—The Hon. Patrick Egan, minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Chile, arrived to-day on the steamer Newport from Panama. He looked in the best of health. He was met at the wharf by quite a throng of people, among them some of the most prominent Irishmen in the country.

Mr. Egan brings with him a treaty which provides that all claims on the part of corporations, companies or private individuals shall be submitted to three commissioners, one to be selected by the United States, one by Chile and the other to be a person whom the presidents of both countries agree. If no agreement is reached within three months after the ratification of the treaty the Swiss republic shall name the third commissioner.

Any vacancy is to be filled by the proper appointing power within three months.

The meeting of the commission is to be held in Washington. Any two of the commissioners can call on the two governments for any papers bearing on claims. The concurring decisions of the commissioners or any two of them are to be final.

Claims must be presented to the commissioners after due notice to the two governments within two months after the first day of the meeting. All sums awarded are to be paid at the capital of the receiving government within six months of the award. Each government must pay the expenses of its respective commissioner and the two are to share the expenses of the third commissioner. The commission is to meet as soon as possible after the ratification of the treaty.

EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

The Triennial Meeting To Be Held in Baltimore.

New York, Oct. 4.—The triennial convention of the Episcopal church of America will meet in Baltimore to-morrow and remain in session during this month. The bishop of Connecticut will preside over the house of bishops. The president of the house of deputies, which is made up of clergymen and laymen will be elected as usual. The convention will be important and interesting. It will be truly a constructive assembly. Among other things it will complete the revision of the prayer book, which has been in hand for 15 years. Another revision of the prayer book is not probable in the next 100 years. But much more important will be the convention's work looking to the organic as well as spiritual union of all the denominations in christendom.

"This convention will go much further in the direction of union," said Dr. Henry Satterlee, rector of the Calvary church, yesterday, "if they think the time is ripe for it. We Episcopalians believe that our ministers must be ordained by a bishop. No other denomination so believes. When all agree upon that point union will have been accomplished."

The preacher declared in his sermon yesterday that the Episcopal church in America was becoming daily less and less Anglican and more American, and closed thus: "The last five or ten years are full of illustrations of this fact. The recent movement for liturgical revision and for a distinctively American prayer book adapted to the needs of the American people; the interest that our church has taken in Christian education and the great schools that almost all our western bishops are founding in their missionary jurisdictions; the preaching of parochial missions and the adoption of less formal services than those of the prayer book to attract the masses; her energy in establishing free churches all over the land; her white cross army efforts to meet and do battle with the awful crime of impurity; the resolute stand she has taken on the subject of divorce—all bring her in touch with the social and religious life of the community and draw her closer to the fellow Christians around her. When all join hand to hand and stand side by side fighting that trinity of evil, the world, the flesh and the devil, we may be sure the day of unity is not far distant."

STILL THEY COME.

Another Life-Long Republican Declares for Cleveland.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 4.—Hon. William Dudley Foulke, during all of his life a prominent republican, and well-known to the country as one of the foremost advocates of civil service reform, addressed a large audience here, urging the election of Cleveland and Stevenson. Contrary to expectation, his argument was based almost exclusively on the tariff issue.

He said the republicans found the McKinley bill so disastrous in the election two years ago that many of them considered that the only escape from its evil consequences has been by the back door of reciprocity. He thought there was a great deal of good in this notion of reducing our protective tariffs by reciprocal treaties with other countries and was glad to see even a little heresy invade the sanctuary of orthodox republican protection. But the provision of the bill giving the president power to suspend duties by proclamation concealed a graver menace to republican institutions than anything in the McKinley bill.

The president within the limits of the reciprocity clause is made a dictator, and if corrupt there would be no limit to his power to perpetuate his authority. The concentration of such authority in the hands of the executive is perilous. Mr. Foulke declared that he should support Cleveland because he believed he would restore the republic reformed and purified to the people. Senator Turpie and Gov.-elect Fishback, of Arkansas, also spoke.

FIRE CHIEFS.

Big Meeting of Fire Fighters at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 4.—The annual session of the National Association of Fire Chiefs was opened in this city this morning. There were 250 chiefs from all parts of the country in attendance, and the display of fire appliances was very interesting.

Mayor Tyler made the address of welcome, tendering the visitors the freedom of the city. Very little was done at the morning meeting beyond the appointment of committees. The session will continue four days.

ONE MASS OF SCALES

Afflicted 8 Years by Dreadful Skin and Blood Disease, with Intense Pain and Loss of Hair.

All Other Remedies Fail. Relieved Instantly and Cured in 4 Weeks by the Cuticura Remedies.

I have a few words to say regarding the CUTICURA REMEDIES. They have cured me in four weeks' time from a Skin and Blood Disease which I have had for over three years. At certain times, my skin would be very sore, and always kept cracking and peeling off in white scales. In cold weather my face was one mass of scales. When in the cold air the pain was intense; it would almost bring tears to my eyes, and my blood also being in a poor condition, with a loss of hair. I have tried every known remedy that was recommended to me, but it was of no use, and gave me very little benefit. So, hearing of your CUTICURA REMEDIES, I concluded to give them a trial. The first application gave almost instant relief. In a few weeks' time I found myself cured, and I am thankful for what they have done for me. Your CUTICURA REMEDIES are a blessing to those who may have the opportunity to use them. I can recommend them to any one.

BASE BALL MAGNATES.

Meeting in New York to Discuss the Situation.

New York, Oct. 4.—A crowd of base ball magnates crowded the Fifth avenue hotel this morning, in response to a call for a special meeting of the league. The meeting was called with the idea of outlining a policy whereby next season shall be only "one season." It seems that many of the league men believe the twelve club scheme is something of a "white elephant." How to get rid of the four extra clubs without hurting any one's feelings and pocketbook is one of the questions the magnates will discuss at to-day's meeting.

Mr. Day, of the New York club, said: "It is hard to say just what we will do. The 12 club question is before us, but we cannot put the four clubs out unless they wish to withdraw. The special meeting to-day will probably lay out a line of action to be acted on at the annual meeting, but in base ball matters it is hard to say what will happen before hand."

FATAL QUARREL OVER ACCOUNTS

Independence, Mo., Oct. 4.—George Parker and Oscar Arnold, of this place, quarrelled over the settlement of accounts at the former's store. Parker attempted to eject Arnold, when the latter shot him in the abdomen, inflicting a fatal wound.

SPECIAL ATTENTION.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mansfield Irving, teacher of elocution, oratory and dramatic expression, will receive pupils on and after October 5, 1892, at 1025 Grand avenue, Toledo, Ohio. For further information apply in person or by letter.

Wapakoneta, O., Oct. 4.—(Special)—Andrew Fisher's large barn, with all its contents, about two miles south of town, was totally destroyed by fire this morning. The live stock in the barn was gotten out, but the grain, of which there were 1,000 bushels each of wheat, corn and oats, and all the farming implements, were consumed. The loss is $5,000, covered by $1,000 insurance.
